Regime Change and Ethnic Politics in Indonesia Taufiq Tanasaldy, 2012-01-01 When the Indonesian New Order regime fell in 1998 regional politics with strong ethnic content emerged across the country In West Kalimantan the predominant feature was particularly that of the Dayaks This surge however was not unprecedented After centuries of occupying a subordinate place in the political and social hierarchy under the nominal rule of the Malay sultanates Dayaks became involved in an enthusiastic political emancipation movement from 1945 The Dayaks secured the governorship as well as the majority of the regional executive head positions before they were shunned by the New Order regime This book examines the development of Dayak politics in West Kalimantan from the colonial times until the first decade of the 21st century It asks how and why Dayak politics has experienced drastic changes since 1945 It will look at the effect of regime change the role of the individual leaders and organizations the experience of marginalization and conflicts on the course of Dayaks politics It will also examine ethnic relations and recent political development up to 2010 in the province

Christianity in Indonesia Susanne Schröter, 2010 Indonesia is a multicultural and multireligious nation whose heterogeneity is codified in the state doctrine the Pancasila Yet the relations between the various social ethnic and religious groups have been problematic down to the present day In several respects Christians have a precarious role in the struggle for shaping the nation In the aftermath of the former president Suharto's resignation and in the course of the ensuing political changes Christians have been involved both as victims and perpetrators in violent regional clashes with Muslims that claimed thousands of lives Since the beginning of the new millennium the violent conflicts have lessened yet the pressure exerted on Christians by Islamic fundamentalists still continues undiminished in the Muslim majority regions The future of the Christians in Indonesia remains uncertain and pluralist society is still on trial For this reason the situation of Christians in Indonesia is an important issue that goes far beyond research on a minority touching on general issues relating to the formation of the nation state Christianity, Islam, and Nationalism in Indonesia Charles E. Farhadian, 2005 As the largest Muslim country in the world Indonesia is marked by an extraordinary diversity in language ancestry culture religion and ways of life Christianity Islam and Nationalism in Indonesia focuses on the Christian Dani of West Papua providing a social and ethnographic history of the most important indigenous population in the troubled province It presents a fascinating overview of the Dani s conversion to Christianity examining the social religious and political uses to which they have put their new religion While its indigenous population is Papuan and its dominant religions are Christianity and animism West Papua contains a growing number of Papuan Muslims Farhadian provides the first study of this highland Papuan group in an urban context which helps distinguish it from the typical highland Papuan ethnography Incorporating cultural and structural approaches the book affords a fascinating insight into the complex relationship between Christianity Islam and nationalism Resilient Communities Jana Krause,2018-10-25 Focuses on civilian agency and mobilization from below and explains violence and non violence in communal wars

Religion and Generalised Trust Handi Hadiwitanto,2016 For most Indonesian citizens Muslims and Christians alike religion plays an important role in private and public life Against the backdrop of tacit and overt conflicts between religious groups in Indonesia this study examines the potential role of religion in building trust between people To what extent does religion induce or reduce trust between Muslims and Christians While religious communities are important socialising agencies for moral principles that may encourage trust religious identification may also be related to distrust towards others making trust a problematic issue in the context of interreligious relations This dissertation describes how trust is determined by religion in both positive and negative ways and how it can be seen as a crucial concept within the religious meaning system Series Interreligious Studies Vol 9 Subject Religious Studies Southeast Asian Studies Sociology

Communal Violence and Democratization in Indonesia Geert Arend van Klinken,2007 Through close scrutiny of empirical materials and interviews this book uniquely analyzes all the episodes of long running widespread communal violence that erupted during Indonesia s post New Order transition Indonesia democratized after the long and authoritarian New Order regime ended in May 1998 But the transition was far less peaceful than is often thought It claimed about 10 000 lives in communal ethnic and religious violence and nearly as many as that again in separatist violence in Aceh and East Timor Taking a comprehensive look at the communal violence that arose after the New Order regime this book will be of interest to students
