Black Men on Race, Gender, and Sexuality Devon Carbado, 1999-07 A groundbreaking anthology of essays providing commentary on gender and sexuality inclusion in the antiracist movement In late 1995 the Million Man March drew hundreds of thousands of black men to Washington DC and seemed even to skeptics a powerful sign not only of black male solidarity but also of black racial solidarity Yet while generating a sense of community and common purpose the Million Man March with its deliberate exclusion of women and implicit rejection of black gay men also highlighted one of the central faultlines in African American politics the role of gender and sexuality in antiracist agenda In this groundbreaking anthology a companion to the highly successful Critical Race Feminism Devon Carbado changes the terms of the debate over racism gender and sexuality in black America The essays cover such topics as the legal construction of black male identity domestic abuse in the black community the enduring power of black machismo the politics of black male white female relationships racial essentialism the role of black men in black women's quest for racial equality and the heterosexist nature of black political engagement Featuring work by Cornel West Huey Newton Henry Louis Gates Jr A Leon Higginbotham Jr Houston Baker Marlon T Riggs Dwight McBride Michael Awkward Ishmael Reed Derrick Bell and many others Devon Carbado's anthology stakes out new territory in the American racial landscape Critical America A series edited by Richard Delgado and Jean Stephancic

Militant Visions Elizabeth Reich,2016-08-01 Militant Visions examines how from the 1940s to the 1970s the cinematic figure of the black soldier helped change the ways American moviegoers saw black men for the first time presenting African Americans as vital and integrated members of the nation In the process Elizabeth Reich reveals how the image of the proud and powerful African American serviceman was crafted by an unexpected alliance of government propagandists civil rights activists and black filmmakers Contextualizing the figure in a genealogy of black radicalism and internationalism Reich shows the evolving images of black soldiers to be inherently transnational ones shaped by the displacements of diaspora Third World revolutionary philosophy and a legacy of black artistry and performance Offering a nuanced reading of a figure that was simultaneously conservative and radical Reich considers how the cinematic black soldier lent a human face to ongoing debates about racial integration black internationalism and American militarism Militant Visions thus not only presents a new history of how American cinema represented race but also demonstrates how film images helped to make history shaping the progress of the civil rights movement itself

African American Women and Sexuality in the Cinema Norma Manatu,2014-01-10 The representation of African American women is an important issue in the overall study of how women are portrayed in film and has received serious attention in recent years Traditionally women of color particularly African American women have been at the margins of studies of women s on screen depictions or excluded altogether This work focuses exclusively on the sexual objectification of African American women in film from the 1980s to the early 2000s Critics of the negative sexual imagery have long speculated that control by African American filmmakers would change how African American women are depicted This work examines sixteen films made by males both white and black to see how the imagery might change with the race of the filmmaker Four dimensions are given special attention the diversity of the women s roles and relationships with men the sexual attitudes of the African American female characters their attitudes towards men and their nonverbal and verbal sexual behaviors This work also examines the role culture has played in perpetuating the images how film influences viewers perception of African American women and their sexuality and how the imagery polarizes women by functioning as a regulator of their sexual behaviors based on cultural definitions of the feminine Veiled Visions David Fort

Historical Encyclopedia is a first of its kind reference detailing developments in the growing field of men's studies. This up to date analytical review serves as a marker of how the field has evolved over the last decade especially since the 1993 publication of Anthony Rotundo's American Manhood. This seminal book opened new vistas for exploration and research into American History, society and culture. Weaving the fabric of American history, American Masculinities illustrates how American political leaders have often used the rhetoric of manliness to underscore the presumed moral righteousness and ostensibly protective purposes of their policies. Seeing U.S. history in terms of gender archetypes, readers will gain a richer and deeper understanding of America's democratic political system, domestic and foreign policies and capitalist economic system as well as the private sphere of the home and domestic life. The contributors to American Masculinities share the assumption that men's lives have been grounded fundamentally in gender, that is, in their awareness of themselves as males. Their approach goes beyond scholarship which traditionally looks at men and women in terms of what they do and how they have influenced a given field or era. Rather, this important work delves into the psychological core of manhood which is shaped not only by biology but also by history, society and culture. Encapsulating the current state of scholarly interpretation within the field of Men's Studies, American Masculinities: A Historical Encyclopedia is designed to help students and scholars advance their studies, develop new questions for research and stimulate new ways of exploring the history of American life.

Visions of Womanhood in Contemporary African Literature Blessing

Diala-Ogamba, 2021-09-28 Through an analysis of historical and contemporary literature, Visions of Womanhood in Contemporary African Literature argues that African women were not relegated to the background in African society until after colonization. Blessing Diala Ogamba analyzes the history of women's roles in African society through oral stories and biographies to show how colonialization worked to oppress women in Africa and explores the ways contemporary African literature confronts and works to overcome its colonial past. Using works by authors such as Akachi Adimora Ezeigbo, Lilian Masitera, Nawal El Sadaawi, Lauretta Ncigobo, Sembene Ousmane and many others, Diala Ogamba reveals the consistent progression of women and their roles in African novels and society.
