The Malay World of Southeast Asia Patricia Lim Pui Huen, 1986 Over 5 000 entries arranged in four parts Part I comprises reference and general works to provide a guide to information on Southeast Asia Part II provides the setting of space and time Part III features the people and Part IV the many facets of culture and society language ideas beliefs values institutions creative expression and social and cultural change Within each section the arrangement is geographical beginning with Southeast Asia as a whole followed by the various countries in alphabetical order Indonesian Houses, 2022-06-20 The traditional houses and settlements of the several hundred ethnic groups of Indonesia are extremely varied and all have their own unique history Underlying this rich diversity are fundamental similarities rooted in the ancient heritage that is shared by all the peoples in the Indonesian field of study The multiplicity of ways in which this heritage is given shape in each local situation bears witness to an amazing creativity in adapting to regional circumstances and social changes Inter ethnic comparison of the architectural structures is a way to arrive at a better understanding of both the shared traditions and the diverging developments In many cases the variety of house forms will reflect successful attempts at one group's making distinct its buildings from those of neighbouring groups in an ongoing ethnic process of what could be called mutual contrasting although sometimes by means of pseudo traditions which have little to do with indigenous customs of the past The contributions to this volume are grouped in four sections The first consists of essays describing approaches to the transformation and variation of houses The second set presents applications of these approaches in case studies of specific Sumatran cultures The third group widens the perspective through the inclusion of a number of cultures from outside Sumatra namely from Flores Sulawesi Kalimantan Palu and Roti The final set deals not so much with houses as with settlements In their pursuit of the cultural dimension of houses the contributions focus on villages and towns exploring their cosmological and symbolic organization Mission Schools in Batakland (Indonesia), 1861-1940 Jan S.

Aritonang, 2016-05-18 The expansion of Christianity is often described from the viewpoint of the western missionaries This book however focuses on the large group of indigenous teachers and their pupils at the mission schools in Batakland These educational activities in fact provided the most important incentive for the birth and growth of the Lutheran Batak Church since 1860 With 3 million members this is the largest protestant church in Indonesia a Southeast Asian country with 190 million inhabitants 85% of whom are Muslim The study is based on archival sources in German Dutch Indonesian and Batak as well as on interviews with local teachers This is an important case study about the place of education within the missionary enterprise the cooperation and conflicts between foreign missionaries and their indigenous helpers the delicate relation between the Dutch colonial government and a German mission board A Grammar of the Urbanised

When Mary Steedly went to North Sumatra Indonesia she intended to study the curing practices of Karo Batak spirit mediums the gurus who keep a community in touch with its ancestors She became fascinated by the stories these women and men told of their encounters with spirits in the ritual arena and on the borders of the everyday social world In these stories Karo mediums conveyed their sense of historical out of placeness which they described as hanging without a rope in Indonesia s state proclaimed Age of Development Based on the author s three years of fieldwork in urban and rural Karoland this engaging and sympathetic account focuses on issues of experience memory and narrative plausibility Steedly approaches mediums stories not simply as reservoirs of information about what happened at a particular moment but as interested efforts to map a pathway across the shifting landscape of historical memory Over the past century Karoland has been the scene of colonial conquest Christian conversion commercial agricultural development military occupation revolution migration and modernization Storeis of spirit encounters Steedly argues provide an alternative unofficial perspective on the historical transformation of the Karo social world In addition to her rich ethnographic material she draws on feminist theories of subjectivity William Faulkner s reconstructions of personal and collective memory and current anthropological explorations of the politics of representation to open the ethnographic imagination to historical eventfulness Mary Margaret Steedly is Assistant Professor of Anthropology at Harvard University Originally published in 1993 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905
