Violence In Families Assessing Prevention And Treatment Programs:

Violence in Families National Research Council and Institute of Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on the Assessment of Family Violence Interventions, 1998-02-13 Reports of mistreated children domestic violence and abuse of elderly persons continue to strain the capacity of police courts social services agencies and medical centers At the same time myriad treatment and prevention programs are providing services to victims and offenders Although limited research knowledge exists regarding the effectiveness of these programs such information is often scattered inaccessible and difficult to obtain Violence in Families takes the first hard look at the successes and failures of family violence interventions It offers recommendations to guide services programs policy and research on victim support and assistance treatments and penalties for offenders and law enforcement Included is an analysis of more than 100 evaluation studies on the outcomes of different kinds of programs and services Violence in Families provides the most comprehensive review on the topic to date It explores the scope and complexity of family violence including identification of the multiple types of victims and offenders who require different approaches to intervention The book outlines new strategies that offer promising approaches for service providers and researchers and for improving the evaluation of prevention and treatment services Violence in Families discusses issues that underlie all types of family violence such as the tension between family support and the protection of children risk factors that contribute to violent behavior in families and the balance between family privacy and community interventions The core of the book is a research based review of interventions used in three institutional sectors social services health and law enforcement settings and how to measure their effectiveness in combating maltreatment of children domestic violence and abuse of the elderly Among the questions explored by the committee Does the child protective services system work Does the threat of arrest deter batterers The volume discusses the strength of the evidence and highlights emerging links among interventions in different institutional settings Thorough readable and well organized Violence in Families synthesizes what is known and outlines what needs to be discovered This volume will be of great interest to policymakers social services providers health care professionals police and court officials victim advocates researchers and concerned individuals

Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research Sally K. Ward, David Finkelhor, 2014-05-22 Understand and evaluate family violence programs for your community Twenty years ago the major issue in creating interventions to prevent domestic violence was persuading the courts the funding agencies and society that domestic violence was a serious problem worthy of time trouble and money Now that the importance of domestic violence has been established we need safe and effective ways to evaluate those interventions to see which ones are working and how they can be improved Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research brings together some of the best minds in the field discussing such vital evaluation issues as policy implications alternative designs for evaluation studies and ethical concerns This comprehensive book approaches the vexed question of evaluation with compassion as well as scientific rigor Clearly traditional double blind studies and control groups are difficult to conduct when family violence is the subject it is ethically indefensible to sit back and watch abusers hurt their mates or children when interventions are available Yet finding usable methods of program evaluation is also essential Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research confronts these questions and discusses practical ways to evaluate a variety of domestic violence programs Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research draws on years of experience to address the difficult questions raised including going beyond evaluating program effectiveness to analyze why and how interventions help change behavior creating new research designs to adapt to the unique concerns of the family violence field using meta analysis for program evaluation research determining the interaction between research and program results identifying barriers between community activists and social scientists that may impede research Program Evaluation and Family Violence Research offers fresh and creative ways to do program evaluations guarantee subjects physical and emotional safety and make good science humane New and Forthcoming Books National Academy Press (U.S.),2000

Psychological Aspects of Women's Health Care Nada Logan Stotland, Donna E. Stewart, 2001 In the decade since the first edition of this work was published an incredible array of reproductive technologies and associated issues has emerged. Obstetricians and gynecologists are hard pressed to deal with the startling breadth and depth of these issues which require mastery over a daunting combination of ever increasing scientific knowledge, technical skills, long hours, legal liability and exposure to clinical situations of overwhelming emotional intensity. Psychiatrists have a vital role to play in helping obstetricians and gynecologists cope with a host of problems whose resolutions require not just technical skill but also knowledge of biology, psychology, sociology, anthropology, ethics and law. For example, to design and implement strategies to reduce the transmission of HIV, psychiatrists could work with public health workers to incorporate the psychology, sociology and anthropology of female reproductive behavior. Psychiatrists could likewise improve the diagnosis and treatment of breast and pelvic malignancies by elucidating the factors that deter women from self examination and regular medical screening and enhance treatment compliance. Divided into three sections, this clinical and theoretical sourcebook addresses every major area of contemporary concern. Pregnancy covers topics from the psychology of normal gestation to physical and psychiatric complications during and after pregnancy, including new prenatal diagnostic techniques and the dynamic issues that emerge when abnormalities are detected and the use of psychotropic drugs and electroconvulsive therapy in pregnant and lactating patients. Gynecology discusses not only common gynecologic problems but also more controversial issues such as induced abortion and the new reproductive technologies, including the role of the menstrual cycle in exacerbating and precipitating psychologic symptoms, the psychiatric aspects of menopause, the assessment and management of chronic pelvic pain, the psychosocial concomitants of gynecologic malignancies and the emotional demands on the oncology team and the special implications of HIV/AIDS. General Issues offers a broad, balanced view of topics rarely found in the literature, such as men's reactions to women's reproductive events, substance abuse and eating disorders, sexual and physical abuse, often part of the histories of patients with personality disorders and posttraumatic stress disorders, ethical and legal issues and health care for lesbian patients. Of special significance is Dr Stotland's chapter on how consultation liaison services are provided to obstetrics and gynecology services. This practical and scholarly volume is exceptionally useful as a teaching reference for medical and other health care students and residents in psychiatry and obstetrics and gynecology. It also provides a valuable resource for the clinician working to improve the psychological well being of women patients. Recognition of Child Abuse for the Mandated Reporter Angelo P. Giardino, Eileen R. Giardino, 2002 Completely updated, this widely acclaimed practical text reference helps professionals fulfill their legal and ethical responsibility to report child abuse with a high level of confidence effectiveness and gratification The book also serves as a textbook for students in medicine nursing social services and law enforcement who are preparing for work with children Written by experts from multiple disciplines Recognition of Child Abuse for the Mandated Reporter incorporates proven approaches for distinguishing possible abuse from conditions that mimic abuse conducting necessary interviews and examinations documenting findings and preparing reports making appropriate referrals and joining with other caring professionals to prevent child maltreatment The comprehensive reorganisation of the 3rd Edition facilitates access to content New to the 3rd Edition are chapters on the role of child protective services the risk for maltreatment on the Internet community and home based services prevention efforts at the local and national levels play therapy psychological and psychiatric responses to abuse and resources available to professionals caring for abused children
