Berg, Mary Catherine Hager, 2008-11-10 This book follows a unique approach by placing a greater emphasis on visual learning as a means for environmental scientists to understand and connect with the central issues of environmental science It vividly illustrates the overarching role that humans play in our planet's environmental problems and successes In each chapter What a Scientist Sees features are presented to highlight a concept or phenomenon from the perspective of a professional in the field Process diagrams are also used to depict complex processes Environmental scientists will be able to reinforce their understanding of the field and gain new insights with this second edition International Studies Stanley W Toops, Mark Allen Peterson, Sheldon Anderson, 2018-04-24 This core text is the first to provide a much needed interdisciplinary approach to international studies Emphasizing the interconnected nature of history geography anthropology economics and political science International Studies details the methodologies and subject matter of each discipline then applies these discipline lenses to seven regions

Europe East Asia and the Pacific South and Central Asia sub Saharan Africa the Middle East and North Africa Latin America and North America This disciplinary and regional combination provides an indispensable cohesive framework for understanding global issues The fully updated fourth edition includes four new global issues chapters The Refugee Crisis in Europe The Syrian Civil War and the Rise of the Islamic State Global Climate Change and The Globalization of Modern Sports

Visual Environmental Communication Anders Hansen, David Machin, 2016-03-17 In 2008 the editors published a well cited journal paper arguing that while scholarly work on media representations of environmental issues had made substantial progress in textual analysis there had been much less work on visual representations This is surprising given the increasingly visual nature of media and communication and in light of emerging evidence that the environment is visualized through the use of increasingly symbolic and iconic images Addressing these matters this volume marks out the present state of the field and contains chapters that represent fresh and exciting high quality scholarly work now emerging on visual environmental communication These include a range of fascinating and often alarming topics which draw on a variety of methods and forms of visual communication The book demonstrates that research needs to think much more widely about what we mean by the visual which plays a massive yet under researched role in the politics and ideology of public understanding and misunderstanding of and the environment and environmental problems The book is of relevance to students and researchers in media and communication studies cultural studies film and visual studies geography sociology politics and other disciplines with an interest in the politics of visual environmental communication This book was published as a special issue of Environmental Communication A Journal of Nature and Culture

International Studies Stanley Toops, Mark Allen Peterson, Walt Vanderbush, Naaborle Sackeyfio, Sheldon Anderson, 2021-09-27 This book provides a much needed classroom text in international studies that is genuinely interdisciplinary in its approach International Studies focuses specifically on five core disciplines history geography anthropology political science and economics and describes them in relation to one another as well as their individual and collective contributions to the study of global issues The expert authors also emphasize the continuing importance of area studies within an interdisciplinary and global framework applying its interdisciplinary framework to substantive issues in seven regions Europe East Asia and the Pacific South and Central Asia sub Saharan Africa the Middle East and North Africa Latin America and North America This new edition has been completely updated and substantially revised with two new chapters on Media Sovereignty and Cybersecurity and Sustainable Development This disciplinary and regional combination offers a useful and cohesive framework for teaching students a substantive and comprehensive approach to understanding global issues
