The American Adrenaline Narrative

Kristin J. Jacobson, 2020-06-01 The American Adrenaline Narrative considers the nature of perilous outdoor adventure tales their gendered biases and how they simultaneously promote and hinder ecological sustainability To explore these themes Kristin J Jacobson defines and compares adrenaline narratives by a range of American authors published after the first Earth Day in 1970 a time frame selected as a watershed moment for the contemporary American environmental movement The forty plus years since that day also mark the rise in the popularity and marketing of many things as extreme including sports jobs travel beverages gum makeovers laundry detergent and even the environmental movement itself Jacobson maps the American eco imagination via adrenaline narratives grounding them in the traditional literary practice of close reading analysis and in ecofeminism She surveys a range of popular and lesser known primary texts by American authors including best selling books such as Jon Krakauer's Into Thin Air and Aron Ralston's Between a Rock and a Hard Place and lesser known texts such as Patricia C McCairen's Canyon Solitude Eddy L Harris's Mississippi Solo and Stacy Allison's Beyond the Limits She also discusses such narratives as they appear in print and online articles and magazines feature length and short films television shows amateur videos social networking site posts fiction advertising and blogs Jacobson contends that these stories constitute a distinctive genre because unlike traditional nature travel and sports writing adrenaline narratives sustain heightened risk or the element of the extreme within a natural setting Additionally these narratives provide important insight into the American environmental imagination's connection to masculinity and adventure knowledge that helps us grasp the current climate crisis and how narrative understanding provides a needed intervention

Going Long Editors of Runner's World Maga, 2010-03-30 For more than 40 years Runner's World magazine has been the world's leading authority on running bringing its readers the latest running advice and some of the most compelling sports narratives ever told From inspirational stories such as A Second Life the story of Matt Long the FDNY firefighter who learned to run again after a critical injury to analytical essays such as White Men Can't Run a look at what puts African runners at the front of the pack the magazine captivates its readers every month Now for the first time the editors of Runner's World have gathered these and other powerful tales to give readers a collection of writing that is impossible to put down With more than 40 gripping stories Going Long transcends the sport of running to reach anyone with an appetite for drama inspiration and a glimpse into the human condition
