Girl Behind the Fence: Codependency Mozelle Martin, Ph.D., 2019-07-07 Per Mental Health America over 40 million Americans mostly women have actually been diagnosed or labeled as codependent In fact a study using the Beck Depression Inventory and the Codependency Assessment Tool revealed that 14 4 million 36% of these Americans were also undergoing simultaneous treatment for depression The study found that the more they answered yes to questions like those below the more impaired they were by their codependency and the more severe their depression The next factors measured in this study were that of self worth and authenticity It was found that the lower their self worth the more they alienated themselves the less self awareness they had and the more severe their depression was As a natural continuance the more severe the depression the less independent they were and therefore the more codependent and debilitating their symptoms were As you can see it is truly a vicious circle Codependent relationships can be between friends romantic partners or family members and often the relationship includes emotional verbal or physical abuse Friends and family members of a codependent person often recognize that something is wrong but will often not try to help because they would lose their benefits should the codependent person become healthy Like any mental or emotional health issue treatment requires time and effort and a strong but non enabling and non codependent support system including this book The bad news is that the severity of codependency increases when the symptoms go ignored The good news is that with the right help you can regain control of your life set and maintain health boundaries seek out your authentic and independent self reach goals practice your passions reclaim your career and much more That is why this book exists
