Critical Thinking on Youth Participatory Action Research Thomas Albright, Gretchen Brion-Meisels, 2024-08-16 This book draws together insights on the past present and future of youth participatory action research YPAR through interviews with ten scholars whose work has been central to the field In this critical moment it allows readers to hear from scholars who have been foundational to the visioning and enacting of YPAR projects as they reflect on the fundamental tenets and boundaries of their work By engaging directly with leaders in the field the book allows readers to explore many of the nuances roots and tensions of youth participatory action research Throughout their conversations with scholars Albright and Brion Meisels pose three questions What is the purpose of YPAR and how does it get defined What makes for authentic participation both on the research team itself and in the process of the research And how if at all does YPAR investigate and seek to dismantle existing power structures within schools and communities In taking an intentionally dialectical approach this volume builds on the centrality of dialogue in PAR YPAR processes both in terms of pedagogy mode and in terms of content matter By sharing direct excerpts of conversations readers can participate in the co construction of knowledge and gain more nuanced understandings of how purpose participation and power have shaped the foundations of YPAR and how they might shape future collaborations Elucidating the knowledge and perspective of leading YPAR practitioners this timely book will be crucial reading on Research Methods and Education for Participatory Action Research programs and related courses

Hope and Healing in Urban Education Shawn Ginwright, 2015-07-30 Hope and Healing in Urban Education proposes a new movement of healing justice to repair the damage done by the erosion of hope resulting from structural violence in urban communities Drawing on ethnographic case studies from around the country this book chronicles how teacher activists employ healing strategies in stressed schools and community organizations and work to reverse negative impacts on academic achievement and civic engagement supporting their students to become powerful civic actors The book argues that healing a community is a form of political action and emphasizes the need to place healing and hope at the center of our educational and political strategies At once a bold revealing and nuanced look at troubled urban communities as well as the teacher activists and community members working to reverse the damage done by generations of oppression Hope and Healing in Urban Education examines how social change can be enacted from within to restore a sense of hope to besieged communities and counteract the effects of poverty violence and hopelessness The Oxford Handbook of Moral Development Lene Arnett Jensen, 2020-01-24 The nature of people's moral lives the similarities and differences in the moral concepts of individuals and groups and how these concepts emerge in the course of human development are topics of perennial interest In recent years the field of moral development has turned from a focus on a limited set of theories to a refreshingly vast array of research questions and methods This handbook offers a comprehensive international and up to date review of this research on moral development Drawing together the work of over 90 authors hailing from diverse disciplines such as anthropology education human development psychology and sociology the handbook reflects the dynamic nature of the field Across more than 40 chapters this handbook opens the door to a broad view of moral motives and behaviors ontogeny and developmental pathways and contexts that children adolescents and adults experience with respect to morality It offers a comprehensive and timely tour of the field of moral development Handbook of Education Policy Research Lora

Cohen-Vogel, Peter Youngs, Janelle Scott, 2025-07-17 The second edition of the Handbook of Education Policy Research the largest volume published in AERA's history addresses a variety of policy and contextual issues in early childhood K 12 and postsecondary education that have received extensive empirical attention during the past 15 years With the pandemic and social turmoil as a backdrop the editors build on the breadth and depth of the first edition while expanding the scope of the project to include subjects methods theories and analyses that have contributed powerfully to the study of education policy and politics in the 2010s and 2020s The field has become more comprehensive and inclusive and the authors represent a diversity of racial ethnic and gender identities and intellectual and disciplinary orientations Most chapters come from multiple authors reflecting the multi sourced development of research in education policy since the first volume was published This compilation consists of 70 chapters and nine commentaries that map past present and future directions of the field and richly attend to critical issues of interest to students researchers policy makers and practitioners California

, 1989 We Fight to Win Hava Rachel Gordon, 2010 We Fight to Win offers a compelling account of young people's attempts to get involved in community politics and documents the battles waged to form youth movements and create social change in schools and neighborhoods Focusing on adolescence and political action and deftly exploring the ways that the politics of youth activism are structured by age inequality as well as race class and gender Hava Rachel Gordon compares the struggles and successes of two movements a mostly white middle class youth activist network in Portland Oregon and a working class network of minority youth in Oakland California Youth and Inequality in Education Michael Heathfield, Dana Fusco, 2015-07-30 The transition to adulthood for many is mediated by class culture and local global influences on identity This volume analyzes the global injustices that create inequities and restrict future opportunities for young people during this transitional time including poverty unemployment human rights race ethnicity and location It critically examines global instances of youth discrimination offering positive strategies and practices such as youth work that successfully remediate these injustices With international contributions from Aotearoa New Zealand Australia England Malaysia Peru Philippines Portugal Morocco Jordan and the U S this volume is particularly important to researchers and scholars in the fields of youth studies education and social work Pride in the Projects Nancy L. Deutsch, 2008-07-12 Teens in America's inner cities grow up and construct identities amidst a landscape of relationships and violence support and discrimination games and gangs In such contexts local environments such as after school programs may help youth to mediate between social stereotypes and daily experience or provide space for them to consider themselves as contributing members of a community Based on four years of field work with both the adolescent members and staff of an inner city youth organization in a large Midwestern city Pride in the Projects examines the construction of identity as it occurs within this local context emphasizing the relationships within which identities are formed Drawing on research in psychology sociology education and race and gender studies the volume highlights the inadequacies in current identity development theories expanding our understanding of the lives of urban teens and the ways in which interpersonal connections serve as powerful contexts for self construction The adolescents stories illuminate how they find ways to discover who they are and who they would like to be in positive and healthy ways in the face of very real obstacles The book closes with implications for practice alerting scholars educators practitioners and concerned citizens of the positive developmental possibilities inherent in youth settings when we pay attention to the voices of youth The Methodological Dilemma Revisited Kathleen Gallagher, 2018-04-17 In The Methodological Dilemma Revisited authors examine what in their research processes has given pause thwarted the process of seamless productivity or stalled the easy research output but has instead insisted upon a deeper analysis This resistance of the expedient explanation has consequences both for the research topics under study and the ways in which qualitative research is conducted in a globalized era of deepening social inequality The book is pedagogical in its orientation and reflects upon the politics of knowledge construction Working with queer and minoritized youth communities and other precarious publics the authors convey their relationships to groups they are inside or outside of or allied with posing ethical questions about research designs and worldviews Themes such as representation refusal and resistance of hegemonies are nuanced by investigations into the ethical practical and scholarly dimensions of the turn toward collaboration in qualitative inquiry Other chapters examine the place value and concerns of aesthetic representation of qualitative research Finally the authors consider issues of criticality in research and the concepts of compassion and humility This book contains contributions from some of the most imaginative qualitative researchers making the most of their research dilemmas in order to reflect upon the challenges and resistances they encounter in the work of qualitative research Gettin' My Word Out Leonisa
