Our Stories of Strength
Kendra Neilsen Myles, Mysti Reutlinger, 2015-05
An inspirational collection of stories filled with devastation heartbreak triumph and strength as written by those affected by different types of Ehlers Danlos Syndromes
These are stories of hope and resilience of strength under adversity of self reliance and new found sources of support
They offer one core message to all who suffer from the diverse and difficult manifestations of EDS
You are not alone
Dr Clair Francomano MD Ehlers Danlos Syndrome is another form of the human body
Just as there are tall people short people dark skin colored people and light skin colored people each with their own set of medical issues similarly there are hypermobile people and not so hypermobile people who have different medical issues
Our understanding of EDS has improved but we still have a lot of work to do
While the medical world works on understanding Ehlers Danlos Syndrome people with EDS have provided us with stories of courage and ingenuity
These stories give others and doctors the strength to find solutions
PRADEEP CHOPRA MD
As a physical therapist who works with many patients suffering from EDS I've seen firsthand how isolating and frustrating EDS can be
Along with a more knowledgeable medical field what these patients need most is an understanding that they are not alone and to be given hope
Our Stories of Strength provides both community and hope and will be just as effective as any medication or exercise
CHRISTOPHER GNIP PT DPT
EDS is a group of heritable connective tissue disorders that can cause a wide variety of symptoms throughout different body systems each unique in presentation to the individual
The variety of symptoms and presentations proves challenging to the medical community in diagnosing and treating patients many of whom are misdiagnosed and suffer as a result
EDS has been commonly viewed as just Benign Joint Hypermobility Syndrome BJHS JHS or Hypermobility Syndrome HMS
Based upon recent research the prevalence of EDS exceeds current estimates
Kendra Neilsen Myles and Mysti Reutlinger founded Our SOS Media LLC with core values of giving back to non profit organizations creating jobs for people living with invisible and chronic illnesses and providing an outlet to those willing to share their stories through submissions in the Our Stories of Strength anthology series
Our SOS Media LLC recognizes that it is through
