Domestic Mandala John Gray,2017-03-02 A rich and fascinating ethnography of domestic architecture and activities among the high caste Chhetris of Kholagaun in Nepal this book focuses on the spatial organization everyday activities and ritual performances that generate and display Chhetri houses as mandalas sacred diagrams that are both maps of the cosmos and machines for revelation Describing the orientation and layout of the Chhetri house and surrounding compound it shows how the orientation and distribution of everyday social activities with the domestic mandala shape people s experience of the enigmas of their lifeworld as householders and analyses the double significance of rituals that take place in the domestic mandala. By treating the Nepali house as more than just the background of people's everyday life, the author reveals the Chhetri everyday lifeworld as a revelation of Hindu tantric cosmology, its enigmatic illusion, and the path to liberation from it. The themes addressed in the book make a unique contribution to the fields of anthropology, architecture, and human geography.

The Living Elements of Healthy Building Design Janus Welton Aia Bbei Architect, 2007-06-14. Based on 15 years of wide-ranging study, THE LIVING ELEMENTS OF HEALTHY BUILDING DESIGN is the first in a series of guidebooks that accompany workshops of the same name to educate and clarify the impact of current building practices and materials on the indoor environment and human health in a form accessible to laypersons and professionals alike, from homeowner to non-technical designer. To simplify and substantiate this wealth of information, the author organizes the material through the lens of the Living Elements: Earth, Metal, Water, Wood, Air, and Fire, emphasizing the interrelationship between human life, the earth, and the cosmos. This reference and its companion volumes, soon to be published, supports the concept of Conscious Architecture, an innovative and integrated model of architecture and design that inspires harmonious structures where natural elements purposefully intermingle with form, color, light, and sound to create holistic and healthy buildings that contain and reflect the wholeness of nature and its expression in the human spirit.

Home Alison Blunt, Robyn Dowling, 2022-05-30. Home articulates a critical geography of home in which home is understood as an emotive place and spatial imaginary that encompasses lived experiences of everyday domestic life alongside a wider and often contested sense of being and belonging in the world. Engaging with the burgeoning cross-disciplinary interest in home, since the first edition was published, this significantly revised and updated second edition contains new research boxes, illustrations, and contemporary examples throughout. It also adds a new chapter on Home and the City that extends the scalar understanding of home to the urban. The book develops the conceptual and methodological underpinnings of a critical geography of home, drawing on key feminist, postcolonial, and housing thinkers, as well as contemporary methodological currents in non-representational thinking and performance. The book's chapters consider the making and unmaking of home across the domestic scale: house as home, the urban city as home, national nation as home, and homemaking in relation to transnational migration and diaspora. Each chapter includes illustrative examples from diverse geographical contexts and historical time periods Chapters also address some of the key cross cutting dimensions of home across these scales including digital connectivity art and performance more than human constructions of home and violence and dispossession The book ends with a research agenda for home in a world of COVID 19 The book provides an understanding of home that has three intersecting dimensions that material and imaginative geographies of home are closely intertwined that home power and identity are intimately linked and that geographies of home are multi scalar This framework the examples used to illustrate it and the intended audience of academics and students across the humanities and social sciences will together shape the field of home studies into the future
