Treatment And Prevention Of Childhood Sexual Abuse

Sandra A. Burkhardt, Anthony F. Rotatori, 2013-02-01 This practice oriented book provides a model of intervention for sexually abused children. Its approach is that intervention strategy should be based on child generated information. Models of intervention based on adult generated information are ineffective simply because children do not have the cognitive capability of utilising such strategies to prevent or stop abuse. In contrast therapeutic strategies presented in this text emphasising child generated information enable the clinician to assess and understand the vulnerability of sexually abused children in regards to their cognitive level of understanding and their emotional reactions. The book guides mental health professionals to acquire information about what and how children think about adults in general and perpetrators in particular. Inventory of children's own strategies for responding to perpetrators documents children's underlying logic for the strategies they identify and use the information provided by children to guide the selection of treatment and prevention techniques. After the introduction of the topic the book moves on to a discussion of the correlates of child sexual abuse. Information on a systematic research endeavour examining victim vulnerability is then presented as well as children's responses to perpetrators. Other chapters focus on the Burkhardt child generated model of sexual abuse intervention and procedures for assessment. Finally the appendix provides a description of educational and psychological materials on child sexual abuse which can be used for prevention and intervention.

Being Mean Patricia Eagle, 2025-07-30

Being Mean is about learning how to acknowledge and live with incomprehensible experiences in the healthiest ways possible. Told in vignettes relative to markers of age and experience Patricia Eagle reveals the heartbreak and destruction of sexual abuse from age four to thirteen by her father. Eagle uses dissociation and numbing in response to his abusive behavior, her mother's complacency and as a way to block her own sense of self. How does a child come to know what is safe or unsafe, right or wrong, normal or abnormal? How does a young woman learn the difference between real love and a desire for sexual pleasure stimulated by abusive childhood sexual experiences? Careening through life Eagle wonders how to trust others and most importantly herself. As a mature woman struggling to understand and live with her past she remains earnest in her pursuit of clarity, compassion and trust.

Tell It All My Son

Michelle Santana, 2010-11-17 Only about 1% of our children are able to tell that someone hurt them sexually. Parents are concerned of the sexual offenders register list but many of these sexual predators are in our family. I want my story to change how we as parents handle the trauma of our children who have been sexually abused. I want my story to help children break the silence that they are terrorized into keeping. I want them to be able to tell all. I want parents to let God heal them of the guilt and embarrassment of someone sexually abusing their child while they are helping the Police and DA prosecute these offenders. Our children need our help to be able to tell about their trauma and who did it. In addition the law enforcement needs our help. I have designed an Angel Doll that holds a heart in her
