William Curtis Modern Architecture:

Modern Architecture Since 1900 William J. R. Curtis, 1987 A penetrating analysis of the modern architectural tradition and its origins Since its first publication in 1982 Modern Architecture Since 1900 has become established as a contemporary classic Worldwide in scope it combines a clear historical outline with masterly analysis and interpretation Technical economic social and intellectual developments are brought together in a comprehensive narrative which provides a setting for the detailed examination of buildings Throughout the book the author's focus is on the individual architect and on the qualities that give outstanding buildings their lasting value For the third edition the text has been radically revised and expanded incorporating much new material and a fresh appreciation of regional identity and variety Seven chapters are entirely new including expanded coverage of recent world architecture Described by James Ackerman of Harvard University as immeasurably the finest work covering this field in existence this book presents a penetrating analysis of the modern tradition and its origins tracing the creative interaction between old and new that has generated such an astonishing richness of architectural forms across the world and throughout the century Le Corbusier William J.R. Curtis, 1994-01-01 A study of Le Corbusier and his influence on twentieth century architecture Utopias and Architecture Nathaniel Coleman, 2007-05-07 Utopian thought though commonly characterized as projecting a future without a past depends on golden models for re invention of what is Through a detailed and innovative re assessment of the work of three architects who sought to represent a utopian content in their work and a consideration of the thoughts of a range of leading writers Coleman offers the reader a unique perspective of idealism in architectural design With unparalleled depth and focus of vision on the work of Le Corbusier Louis I Kahn and Aldo van Eyck this book persuasively challenges predominant assumptions in current architectural discourse forging a new approach to the invention of welcoming built environments and transcending the limitations of both the postmodern and hyper modern stance and orthodox modernist architecture

Architectural Regionalism Vincent B. Canizaro, 2012-03-20 In this rapidly globalizing world any investigation of architecture inevitably leads to considerations of regionalism But despite its omnipresence in contemporary practice and theory architectural regionalism remains a fluid concept its historical development and current influence largely undocumented This comprehensive reader brings together over 40 key essays illustrating the full range of ideas embodied by the term Authored by important critics historians and architects such as Kenneth Frampton Lewis Mumford Sigfried Giedion and Alan Colquhoun Architectural Regionalism represents the history of regionalist thinking in architecture from the early twentieth century to today Constructing Identity in Contemporary Architecture Peter Herrle, Stephanus Schmitz, 2009 The global spread of uniform modes of production and cultural values has been accompanied by a dissemination of stereotypes of modern architecture styles almost everywhere around the globe Paradoxically the reverse process has also emerged In some countries the elites feel the necessity to counterbalance the loss of identity and defend their own cultures against the intruding forces of globalization What started as a defensive notion has developed into a more progressive attempt to re create what has allegedly been lost This trend is being strongly expressed in discourses about architecture in countries of the South Who are the actors feeling compelled to construct new identities How are these new identities in architecture created in various parts of the world And which are the ingredients borrowed from various historical and ethnic traditions and other sources These and other questions are discussed in five case studies from different parts of the world written by renowned scholars from Brazil Mexico Egypt India and Singapore

What is Architecture? Andrew Ballantyne, 2013-11-05 Architecture can influence the way we feel and can help us along as we go about our lives or sabotage our habitual ways of doing things The essays collected here challenge and help to define a view of architecture which ranges from the minimal domesticity of Diogenes barrel to the exuberant experiments of the contemporary avant garde There are essays by philosophers architects and art historians including Roger Scruton Bernard Tschumi Demetri Pophyrios Kenneth Frampton Diane Ghirardo and David Goldblatt Beyond Modernist Masters Felipe Hernández, 2009-11-20 Latin America has been an important place for architecture for many decades Masters like Barragán Dieste Lina Bo Bardi and Niemeyer pointed the way for architectural design all over the world and they continue to do so today Their approach to colors materials and walls had a deep and lasting influence on architectural modernism Since then however and especially in the last fifteen years architecture on the continent has continued to evolve and a lively and extremely creative architecture scene has developed The work of Latin American architects and city planners is often guided by social issues for example the approach to informal settlements on the outskirts of big cities the scarcity of housing and public space the availability of affordable transportation and the important role of cultural infrastructure such as schools libraries and sports facilities as a catalyst for neighborhoods Within this context the book considers numerous projects that have prompted discussion and provided fresh impetus all across Latin America Outstanding projects like the Santo Domingo Library in Medellín Colombia by Giancarlo Mazzanti Alberto Kalach's Liceo Franco Mexicano in Mexico and the works of Alejandro Aravena in Chile show that recent Latin American architecture is more than capable of holding its own beside the works of the founders Felipe Hernández is an architect and professor of Architectural Design History and Theory at The University of Liverpool He attended an MA in Architecture and Critical Theory graduating with distinction in 1998 and received his PhD from the University of Nottingham in 2003 He has taught at the Bartlett School of Architecture UCL The Universities of Nottingham Sheffield East London and Nottingham Trent in the United Kingdom as well as at Brown University and Roger Williams University in USA Felipe has published numerous essays and articles examining the situation of contemporary Latin American cities and revealing the multiplicity of architectural practices that operate simultaneously in the constant re-shaping of the continent's cities Fallingwater Rising Franklin Toker, 2007-12-18 Fallingwater Rising is a biography not of a person but of the most famous house of the twentieth century Scholars and the public have long extolled the house that Frank Lloyd Wright perched over a Pennsylvania waterfall in 1937 but the full story has never been told When he got the commission to design the house Wright was nearing seventy his youth and his early fame long gone It was the Depression and Wright had no work in sight Into his orbit stepped Edgar J Kaufmann a Pittsburgh department store mogul the smartest retailer in America and a philanthropist with the burning ambition to build a world famous work of architecture It was an unlikely collaboration the Jewish merchant who had little concern for modern architecture and the brilliant modernist who was leery of Jews But the two men collaborated to produce an extraordinary building of lasting architectural significance that brought international fame to them both and confirmed Wright's position as the greatest architect of the twentieth century. Fallingwater Rising is also an enthralling family drama involving Kaufmann, his beautiful cousin wife Liliane, and their son Edgar Jr., whose own role in the creation of Fallingwater and its ongoing reputation is central to the story. Involving such key figures of the 1930s as Frida Kahlo, Albert Einstein, Henry R. Luce, William Randolph Hearst, Ayn Rand, and Franklin Roosevelt, Fallingwater Rising shows us how E. J. Kaufmann's house became not just Wright's masterpiece but a fundamental icon of American life. One of the pleasures of the book is its rich evocation of the upper crust society of Pittsburgh: Carnegie, Frick, the Mellons, a society that was socially reactionary but luxury loving and baronial in its tastes, hobbies, and sexual attitudes. Kaufmann had so many mistresses that his store issued them distinctive charge plates they could use without paying. Franklin Toker has been studying Fallingwater for eighteen years. No one but he could have given us this compelling saga of the most famous private house in the world and the dramatic personal story of the fascinating people who made and used it. A major contribution to both architectural and social history.

Hut Pavilion Shrine: Architectural Archetypes in Mid-Century Modernism Miles David Samson, 2016-03-09

The phase of American architectural history we call mid century modernism, 1940-1980, saw the spread of Modern Movement tenets of functionalism, social service, and anonymity into mainstream practice. It also saw the spread of their seeming opposites. Temples, arcades, domes, and other traditional types occur in both modernist and traditionalist forms. From the 1950s to the 1970s, Hut Pavilion Shrine examines this crossroads of modernism and the archetypal and critiques its buildings and theory. The book centers on one particularly important and omnipresent type, the pavilion, a type which was the basis of major work by Louis I. Kahn, Paul Rudolph, Philip Johnson, Minoru Yamasaki, and other eminent architects. While focusing primarily on the architecture culture of the United States, it also includes the work of British, European, Team X, and Scandinavian designers and writers. Making connections between formal analysis, historical context, and theory, the book continues lines of inquiry which have been pursued by Neil Levine and Anthony Vidler on representation, and by Sarah Goldhagen and Alice Friedman on modernism's forbidden elements of the honorific and the visually pleasurable. It highlights the significance of pavilionizing mid century designers such as Victor Lundy, John Johansen, Eero Saarinen, and Edward Durrell Stone, and shows how frequently essentialist and traditionalist types appeared in the roadside vernacular of drive-in restaurants, gas stations, furniture, and car showrooms, branch banks, and motels. The book ties together the threads in mid century architectural theory that addressed aspects of type, essential structure, and primal humanistic aspects of environment making, and discusses how these concerns outlived the mid century moment and in the designs and writings of Aldo Rossi and others, they paved the way for Post Modernism.

The New Tenement Florian Urban, 2017-10-12 This book examines new tenements dense medium rise multi storey residences that have been the backbone of European inner city regeneration since the 1970s and came with a new positive view on urban living Focusing principally on Berlin Copenhagen Glasgow Rotterdam and Vienna it relates architectural design to an evolving intellectual framework that mixed anti modernist criticism with nostalgic images and strategic goals and absorbed ideas about the city as a generator of creativity locale of democratic debate and object of personal identification This book analyses new tenements in the context of the post functionalist city and its mixed use neighbourhoods redeveloped industrial sites and regenerated waterfronts It demonstrates that these buildings are both generators and outcome of an urban environment characterised by information exchange rather than industrial production individual expression rather than mass culture visible history rather than comprehensive renewal and conspicuous difference rather than egalitarianism It also shows that new tenements evolved under a welfare state that all over Europe has come under pressure but still to a certain degree balances and controls heterogeneity and economic disparities
