Winchester Repeating Rifle,

Made For .44, .38, And .32 Winchester Center Fire Cartridges.

The Winchester Repeating Rifle Model 1873 is, in several ways, the most remarkable arm ever produced. It was the first repeating rifle ever made to use center fire cartridges, and for years the only one on the market. No gun has met with the success or attained such a widespread reputation as it has. Until a few years ago, practically all the big game killed in this and other countries ascribed to its accurate and deadly fire, and to-day it can be found in every country on the globe.

The Model 1873 is a strong, accurate arm. The firing pin is automatically withdrawn when the gun is opened, and the trigger locked until the action is closed. Guns of this model can be furnished with set triggers, in which case the trigger lock safety catch is omitted. (See page 98.) It is made for .44, .38, and .32 center fire cartridges.*

This cartridge always has been and always will be popular for sporting purposes. It contains 28 grains of black powder and 200 grains of lead. Up to 300 yards it is very accurate.

Price per 1,000, $125.00. Case contains 2,000.

The .44 caliber cartridge is lighter than the .44. It contains 24 grains of black powder and 180 grains of lead. This cartridge is heavy enough to kill small game, and is accurate up to 300 yards. Price per 1,000, $125.00. Case contains 2,000.

This cartridge is designed for shooting small game, such as squirrels, geese, etc., at short range. It contains 20 grains of black powder and 115 grains of lead. It is a very accurate cartridge at short range. Price per 1,000, $125.00. Case contains 2,000.

Model 1873 Rifles will be furnished with rifle or shotgun butt stocks, and the latter with either metal or rubber butt plates, without extra charge. Unless otherwise ordered rifle butt stocks will be sent. Rifle butt stocks in all calibers but the .32 carry a cleaning rod in them. The standard lengths of barrels of different styles of this model are: Sporting Rifle, 24 inches; Muzzle, 30 inches; Carbine, 20 inches. Barrels longer than the standard cannot be furnished.

Winchester Repeating Rifle System.

The system and operation of Winchester Repeating Rifles, Model 1873, .44, .38, and .32 calibers, can be readily understood from the sectional cuts of that model shown on this page.

Action Closed.

Fig. 1.

To Load The Magazine.

The magazine is loaded while the action is closed, as shown in Fig. 1, by pressing down the spring cover on the right hand side of the receiver with the point of the cartridge, and inserting the cartridge through the opening thus made. The opening is closed by the spring cover as soon as the cartridge is inserted. This operation is repeated until the magazine is filled.

Action Open.

Fig. 2.

To Prepare To Shoot.

When it is desired to load, the finger lever the position shown in Fig. 2, and then returned to its normal position. This motion moves out the shell or cartridge a cartridge from the magazine to the chamber, leaves the gun ready to fire when the trigger is pulled. The operation is easily executed while the gun is at the shoulder taking the eye off the sights, thus enabling the shooter to fire as many shots as there are cartridges in the magazine without removing the gun from the shoulder, or losing sight of the object shot at.

It is shown, forward to the position shown in Fig. 2, in the chamber, transmits the hammer, and pulled. The operation of the lever, or at the shoulder, thus enabling the shooter to fire as many shots as there are cartridges in the magazine without removing the gun from the shoulder, or losing sight of the object shot at.

To Take Out The Barrel.

Take out the two thumbscrews and the magazine ring pin; pull out the magazine tube and take off the forearm; then, before unscrewing the barrel from the frame, the breech pin must be thrown back by moving the finger lever forward—otherwise, the attempt to unscrew it will break the extractor which withdraws the cartridge and ruin the breech pin.

To Remove The Breech Pin. Model 1873.

After removing the side plates and bolts, take out the lock pin and extractor; the firing pin can then be pulled out with the fingers, first removing the hammer, or setting it at full cock.
