Digital Hinduism Murali Balaji, 2017-11-01 This edited volume seeks to build a scholarly discourse about how Hinduism is being defined reformed and rearticulated in the digital era and how these changes are impacting the way Hindus view their own religious identities It seeks to interrogate how digital Hinduism has been shaped in response to the dominant framing of the religion which has often relied on postcolonial narratives devoid of context and an overemphasis on the geopolitics of the Indian subcontinent post partition From this perspective this volume challenges previous frameworks of how Hinduism has been studied particularly in the West where Marxist and Orientalist approaches are often ill fitting paradigms to understanding Hinduism This volume engages with and critiques some of these approaches while also enriching existing models of research within media studies ethnography cultural studies and religion

Making Place for Muslims in Contemporary India Kalyani Devaki Menon, 2022-05-15 Making Place for Muslims in Contemporary India looks at how religion provides an arena to make place and challenge the majoritarian exclusionary and introverted tendencies of contemporary India Places do not simply exist They are made and remade by the acts of individuals and communities at particular historical moments In India today the place for Muslims is shrinking as the revanchist Hindu Right increasingly realizes its vision of a Hindu nation Religion enables Muslims to re envision India as a different kind of place one to which they unquestionably belong Analyzing the religious narratives practices and constructions of religious subjectivity of diverse groups of Muslims in Old Delhi Kalyani Devaki Menon reveals the ways in which Muslims variously contest the insular and singular understandings of nation that dominate the sociopolitical landscape of the country and make place for themselves Menon shows how religion is concerned not just with the divine and transcendental but also with the anxieties and aspirations of people living amid violence exclusion and differential citizenship Ultimately Making Place for Muslims in Contemporary India allows us to understand religious acts narratives and constructions of self and belonging as material forces as forms of the political that can make room for individuals communities and alternative imaginings in a world besieged by increasingly xenophobic understandings of nation and place

Extremist Islam Kumar Ramakrishna, 2022 Since the Bali terrorist attacks in 2002 law enforcement agencies have rigorously combatted terrorist networks in Southeast Asia yet groups motivated by violent extremist interpretations of Islam remain resilient and dangerous This book shines a light on specific beliefs behaviors and policies that impact these challenges ultimately offering cutting edge effective tools for response The book begins by challenging misguided and controversial notions that depict Islam as an inherently violent religion arguing that the theological ideological amalgam of what has been called Salafabism is the more useful lens for recognizing closed minded extremist currents The book carefully distinguishes this Salafabist extremist mindset from relatively open minded Salafabist radicalism paying due attention to nonviolent extremists and the ways they can contribute to rather than reduce violent terrorist activity in the region Using poignant case studies from Malaysia Singapore the Philippines and Indonesia the book clarifies a bewildering range of terminology associated with Islamist violence and explains how imprecise and oversimplified narratives are destructive to progress and worse empowering to terrorist organizations These chapters build up to research informed policies and rhetorical recommendations for improved outcomes With its novel insights into the root causes of extremist terrorism in Southeast Asia the ineffective policies that prohibit progress and promote unrest in this region and the avenues for positive change this book offers a comprehensive strategy for fostering theologically sound yet culturally authentic counterterrorist measures that defend the complex richly textured tapestry of culture in Southeast Asia

The Wahhabi Movement in India Qeyamuddin Ahmad, 2020-03-20 Founded by Sayyid Ahmad 1786-1831 of Rae Bareilly the Wahhabi Movement in India was a vigorous movement for socio-religious reforms in Indo-Islamic society in the nineteenth century with strong political undercurrents It stood for a strong affirmation of Tauhid unity of God the efficacy of ijtihad the right of further interpretation of the Quran and the Sunnah or of forming a new opinion by applying analogy and the rejection of bid'at innovation It remained active for half a century Sayyid Ahmad's writings show an awareness of the increasing British presence in the country and he regarded British India as a darul harb abode of war In 1826 he migrated and established an operational base in the independent tribal belt of the North Western Frontier area After his death in the battle of Balakote the Movement slackened for some time but his adherents particularly Wilayat Ali and Enayat Ali of Patna revived the work and broad based its activities The climax of the Movement was reached in the Ambeyla War 1863 during which the English army suffered serious losses at the hands of the Wahhabis This led the Government to take stern measures to suppress the Movement Investigations were launched the leaders were arrested and sentenced to long term imprisonments and their properties confiscated That broke the back of the Movement but it continued to be a potential source of trouble to the government The Movement does not fit neatly in any one of the groups and categories into which the history of the early resistance to British rule has been divided by some of the writers on the subject It cut across some of them time wise and theme wise The existing studies on the subject do not offer a comprehensive profile of the Movement and fail to analyse its nature and the reasons for its failure politically This well researched study drawing on a vast array of contemporary records many of them for the first time seeks to fill this gap and presents an integrated account of the rise and growth of the Movement its operation over the entire area and period of its existence its impact and reasons for its failure Please note This title is co-published with Manohar Publishers New Delhi Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the
