West African Warfare in Bahia and Cuba Manuel Barcia, 2014-09-25 West African Warfare in Bahia and Cuba seeks to explain how a series of historical events that occurred in West Africa from the mid 1790s including Afonja s rebellion the Owu wars the Fulani led jihad and the migrations to Egband had an impact upon life in cities and plantations in western Cuba and Bahia Manuel Barcia examines the extent to which a series of African led plots and armed movements that took place in western Cuba and Bahia between 1807 and 1844 were the result or a continuation of events that had occurred in and around the Yoruba and Hausa kingdoms in the same period Why did these two geographical areas serve as the theatre for the uprising of the Nag s the Lucum s and other West African men and women The answer Barcia argues relates to the fact that plantation economies supported by unusually large numbers of African born slaves from the same or close geographical and ethnic heritage transformed the rural and urban landscape in western Cuba and Bahia To understand why these two areas followed such similar social patterns it is essential to look across the Atlantic it is not enough to repeat the significance of the African background of Bahian and Cuban slaves By establishing connections between people and events with a special emphasis on their warfare experiences Barcia presents a coherent narrative which spans more than three decades and opens a wealth of archival research for future study

African Indigenous Religious Traditions in Local and Global Contexts Ogungbile, David O., 2015-09-23 This volume honours one of the great scholars of our era Professor Jacob Olupona Although he has conducted significant portions of his career outside of Nigeria he has not separated himself from his colleagues or from interests in religions in Nigeria and elsewhere in Africa His publications and presentations offer the international scholarly community important critical insights into a range of religious activities life ways and ideas originating in Africans and the African Diaspora In spite of the diversity in the thoughts and opinions expressed and equally of the range of disciplines and topics contained in the book one can say that the contributors have developed a shared concern about the role of African Indigenous Religious Traditions in the processes of development and the context within which it development had or is taking place The book guides us to a deep understanding and appreciation of how Africans in their varied situations grapple with existential problems through philosophical ruminations complex ritual processes cultivated memory and organized coping strategies
