

A black and white photograph of a man with glasses, wearing a dark suit and tie, standing and reading from a book. He is holding the book with both hands. In the foreground, the heads and shoulders of several people are visible, looking towards the man. The background is dark and out of focus, suggesting an indoor setting like a lecture hall or a small theater.

Voicing American Poetry Sound And Performance From The 1920s To The Present:

Voicing American Poetry Lesley Wheeler, 2008 This book is a study of voice in poetry beginning in the 1920s when modernism rose to the surface of poetry and other arts and when radio expanded suddenly in the United States

A Companion to Literary Evaluation Richard Bradford, Madelena Gonzalez, Kevin De Ornellas, 2024-03-21 The first critical survey of its kind devoted solely to literary evaluation Companion to Literary Evaluation bridges the gap between the non academic literary world where evaluation is deeply ingrained and the world of academia where evaluation is rarely considered Encouraging readers to formulate and articulate arguments that balance instinctive judgment and reasoned assessment this unique volume addresses key issues regarding literary values from the perspective of analytical aesthetics and the philosophy of literature Bringing together a diverse panel of contributors the Companion explores competing theories of literary evaluation the reasons for evaluating theater and lyric poetry in performance the question of value in literary theory debates over Modernism's negative impact on literature the possibility of evaluating aesthetic beauty through scientific and formalist methods the nature and status of literary evaluation as a branch of criticism aesthetics in applied and community theater evaluation outside academia the perils of extreme relativism and subjectivism in literary evaluation evaluation in schools and much more Contributors question and reassess the reputations of authors across the canon from Shakespeare and James Shirley to T S Eliot Kathleen Raine Virginia Woolf Joyce and Beckett amongst others The Companion Illustrates how seemingly divergent perspectives on the artistic qualities and value of literature can sometimes overlap Covers the standard range of literary genres while including others such as unfinished novels freelance journalism and lyric poetry in performance Offers methodologies that demonstrate why literature can be treated as something different from other forms of language and therefore assessed as art Explores the importance of maintaining clarity and specificity in the evaluation of literary works Companion to Literary Evaluation is a must read for undergraduates research students lecturers and academics in search of fresh perspectives on standard literary critical issues

The Muse is Music Meta DuEwa Jones, 2011 This wide ranging ambitiously interdisciplinary study traces jazz s influence on African American poetry from the Harlem Renaissance to contemporary spoken word poetry Examining established poets such as Langston Hughes Ntozake Shange and Nathaniel Mackey as well as a generation of up and coming contemporary writers and performers Meta DuEwa Jones highlights the intersections of race gender and sexuality within the jazz tradition and its representation in poetry Applying prosodic analysis to emphasize the musicality of African American poetic performance she examines the gendered meanings evident in collaborative performances and in the criticism images and sounds circulating within jazz cultures Jones also considers poets who participated in contemporary venues for black writing such as the Dark Room Collective and the Cave Canem Foundation including Harryette Mullen Elizabeth Alexander and Carl Phillips Incorporating a finely honed discussion of the Black Arts Movement the poetry jazz fusion of the late 1950s and slam and spoken word performance milieus such as Def Poetry Jam she focuses on jazz and hip hop influenced performance artists including Tracie Morris Saul Williams and Jessica Care Moore Through attention to cadence rhythm and structure The Muse Is Music fills a gap in literary scholarship by attending to issues of gender in jazz and poetry and by analyzing recordings of poets both with and without musical accompaniment Applying the methodology of textual close reading to a critical close listening of American poetry's resonant soundscape Jones's analyses include exploring the formal innovation and queer performance of Langston Hughes's recorded collaboration with jazz musicians delineating the relationship between punctuation and performance in the post soul John Coltrane poem and closely examining jazz improvisation and hip hop stylization An elaborate articulation of the connections between jazz poetry and spoken word and gender The Muse Is Music offers valuable criticism of specific texts and performances and a convincing argument about the shape of jazz and African American poetic performance in the contemporary era

The Lyre Book Matthew Kilbane, 2024-02-27 Redefines modern lyric poetry at the intersection of literary and media studies In The Lyre Book Matthew Kilbane urges literary scholars to consider lyric not as a genre or a reading practice but as a media condition the generative tension between writing and sound In addition to clarifying issues central to the study of modern poetry including its proximity to popular song hallowed objecthood and seeming autonomy from historical determination this revisionary theory of lyric presents a new history of modern US poetry as one sonorous practice among many clamorous others Focusing on the mid twentieth century Kilbane traces the impact of new sound technologies on a diverse array of literary and musical works by Lorine Niedecker Harry Partch Louis and Celia Zukofsky Sterling Brown John Wheelwright Langston Hughes Marianne Moore Russell Atkins and Helen Adam Kilbane shows how literary critics can look to media history to illuminate poetry's social life and how media scholars can read poetry for insight into the cultural history of technology In this book the lyric poem emerges as a sensitive barometer of technological change

Left of Poetry Sarah Ehlers, 2019-04-11 In this incisive study Sarah Ehlers returns to the Depression era United States in order to unsettle longstanding ideas about poetry and emerging approaches to poetics By bringing to light a range of archival materials and theories about poetry that emerged on the 1930s left Ehlers reimagines the historical formation of modern poetics Offering new and challenging readings of prominent figures such as Langston Hughes Muriel Rukeyser and Jacques Roumain and uncovering the contributions of lesser known writers such as Genevieve Taggard and Martha Millet Ehlers illuminates an aesthetically and geographically diverse matrix of schools and movements Resisting the dismissal of thirties left writing as mere propaganda the book reveals how communist affiliated poets experimented with poetic modes such as lyric and documentary and genres including songs ballads and nursery rhymes in ways that challenged existing frameworks for understanding the relationships among poetic form political commitment and historical transformation As Ehlers shows Depression left movements and their international connections are crucial for understanding both the history of modern poetry and the role of poetic thought in conceptualizing historical change

Lyrical Strains Elissa Zellinger, 2020-10-07 In this book Elissa Zellinger analyzes both political philosophy and poetic theory in order to chronicle the consolidation of the modern lyric and the liberal subject across the long nineteenth century In the nineteenth century United States both liberalism and lyric sought self definition by practicing techniques of exclusion Liberalism was a political philosophy whose supposed universals were limited to white men and created by omitting women the enslaved and Native peoples The conventions of poetic reception only redoubled the sense that liberal selfhood defined its boundaries by refusing raced and gendered others Yet Zellinger argues that it is precisely the poetics of the excluded that offer insights into the dynamic processes that came to form the modern liberal and lyric subjects She examines poets Frances Sargent Osgood Elizabeth Oakes Smith Frances Ellen Watkins Harper Edna St Vincent Millay and E Pauline Johnson whose work uses lyric practices to contest the very assumptions about selfhood responsible for denying them the political and social freedoms enjoyed by full liberal subjects In its consideration of politics and poetics this project offers a new approach to genre and gender that will help shape the field of nineteenth century American literary studies
