Psychological Trauma Gilbert Reyes, Jon D. Elhai, Julian D. Ford, 2008-12-03 The Encyclopedia of Psychological Trauma is the only authoritative reference on the scientific evidence clinical practice guidelines and social issues addressed within the field of trauma and posttraumatic stress disorder Edited by the leading experts in the field you will turn to this definitive reference work again and again for complete coverage of psychological trauma PTSD evidence based and standard treatments as well as controversial topics including EMDR virtual reality therapy and much more Fundamental Questions in Cross-Cultural Psychology

Fons J. R. van de Vijver, Athanasios Chasiotis, Seger M. Breugelmans, 2011-03-17 Cross cultural psychology has come of age as a scientific discipline but how has it developed The field has moved from exploratory studies in which researchers were mainly interested in finding differences in psychological functioning without any clear expectation to detailed hypothesis tests of theories of cross cultural differences This book takes stock of the large number of empirical studies conducted over the last decades to evaluate the current state of the field Specialists from various domains provide an overview of their area linking it to the fundamental questions of cross cultural psychology such as how individuals and their cultures are linked how the link evolves during development and what the methodological challenges of the field are This book will appeal to academic researchers and post graduates interested in cross cultural research Psychological

Aspects of Social Axioms Kwok Leung, Michael Harris Bond, 2008-12-29 Humans are surrounded by trillions of stimuli Their eyes for instance can discriminate 7 500 000 colors But there is a severe limitation in the number of discriminably different stimuli that they can process at one time George Miller argued that they can handle no more than seven plus or minus two independent pieces of information at any given time Thus necessarily they must develop ways to simplify the task of processing the information that exists in their environment They do this in many ways One way is to select the stimuli that are most important in their lives what are often called values Another way is to chunk stimuli by linking them to each other so they form bundles of stimuli that can be processed as if they are one entity Generalized expectancies of what is linked with what are beliefs and these beliefs are structured into bundles see Triandis 1972 Understanding Social Psychology Across Cultures

Peter B Smith, Ronald Fischer, Vivian L. Vignoles, Michael Harris Bond, 2013-08-22 Understanding Social Psychology Across Cultures Second Edition starts by asking why social psychology needs a cross cultural perspective It then examines cultural differences and their origins before addressing traditional social psychological themes cross culturally for example group processes self and identity intergroup relations Themes of contemporary relevance including migration ethnic conflict and climate change are also covered Key features Presentation of concepts and theories made accessible to the reader using practical examples and everyday life experiences from diverse parts of the world Biographical portraits of key researchers in the field Coverage of the appropriate methods for conducting state of the art cross cultural research This textbook is appropriate for students of social and cross cultural psychology It will also interest practitioners wanting to understand the impact of culture on their fields of work such as international relations social policy health promotion ethnic relations and international business Culture across the Curriculum Kenneth D. Keith, 2018-04-12 Culture across the Curriculum provides a useful handbook for psychology teachers in the major subfields of the discipline From introductory psychology to the foundations in such areas as social psychology statistics research methods memory cognition personality and development to such specialized courses as language sexual minorities and peace psychology there is something here for virtually every teacher of psychology In addition to discussions of the rationale for inclusion of cultural context in their areas of specialization these experienced teachers also offer advice and ideas for teaching exercises and activities to support the teaching of a psychology of all people Parenting From Afar and the Reconfiguration of Family Across Distance Maria Rosario T. de Guzman, Jill Brown, Carolyn Pope Edwards, 2018-04-09 An increasing number of families around the world are now living apart from one another subsequently causing the defining and redefining of their relationships roles within the family unit and how to effectively maintain a sense of familial cohesion through distance Edited by Maria Rosario T de Guzman Jill Brown and Carolyn Pope Edwards Parenting From Afar and the Reconfiguration of Family Across Distance uniquely highlights how families both in times of crisis and within normative cultural practices organize and configure themselves and their parenting through physical separation In this volume readers are given a unique look into the lives of families around the world that are affected by separation due to a wide range of circumstances including economic migration fosterage divorce military deployment education and orphanhood Contributing authors from the fields of psychology anthropology sociology education and geography all delve deep into the daily realities of these families and share insight on why they live apart from one another how families are redefined across long distances and the impact absence has on various members within the unit An especially timely volume Parenting From Afar and the Reconfiguration of Family Across Distance offers readers an important understanding and examination of family life in response to social change and shifts in the caregiving context Re-Authoring Life Narratives After Trauma: A Holistic Narrative Model of Care Charles B. Manda, 2019-12-12 Re authoring Life Narratives after Trauma is an interdisciplinary specialist resource for traumatic stress researchers practitioners and frontline workers who focus their research and work on communities from diverse religious backgrounds that are confronted with trauma death illness and other existential crises This book aims to argue that the biopsychosocial approach is limited in scope when it comes to reaching a holistic model of assessing and treating individuals and communities that are exposed to trauma The holistic model must integrate an understanding of and respect for the many forms of religion and spirituality that clients might have Pargament 2011 It will not only bring a spiritual perspective into the psychotherapeutic dialogue but it will also assist in dealing with the different demands in pastoral ministry as related to clinical and post traumatic settings The book makes several contributions to scholarship in the disciplines of although not limited to traumatic stress studies pastoral care and counselling psychology and psychiatry Firstly the book brings spirituality into the psychotherapeutic dialogue traditionally religious and spiritual topics have not been a welcome part of the psychotherapeutic dialogue Secondly it underscores the significance of documenting literary narratives as a means of healing trauma writing about our traumas enables us to express things that cannot be conveyed in words and to bring to light what has been suppressed and imagine new possibilities of living meaningfully in a changed world Thirdly it proposes an extension to the five stage model of trauma and recovery coined by Judith Herman
