Power and Urban Space in Pre-Modern Holland Clé Lesger, 2024-02-22 Cities and urban societies have many faces In this study the pre modern cities of Holland are presented as arenas where power relations between social classes are expressed in a more or less permanent appropriation of physical space and through discursive strategies The continuity of the power relations in the cities of Holland spanning centuries makes it urgent to look not only at the assumption of urban space as an expression of power relations within society but also at the contribution of this appropriation to the acceptance and continuity of the existing power relations in pre modern Holland Within this broad area extensive attention is paid to the very prominent and enduring appropriation of urban space in the field of housing the less permanent but violent appropriation of urban space during the public execution of scaffold punishments the maintenance of public order by civic militias and appropriation during riots and revolts In addition city descriptions maps and pictures of the pre modern cities of Holland are scrutinised for what they can reveal about the appropriation of urban spaces These themes each have an extensive historiography but they have never been brought together in an interpretative framework that fits in with Pierre Bourdieu s model of society and the work of especially John Allen on power until now Fifty Years Later ,1995-01-01 The Dutch slave trade slavery and abolitionism have long remained unduly neglected issues in the burgeoning international debate on capitalism modernity and antislavery Fifty Years Later now offers a thorough and wide ranging discussion of antislavery in the Netherlands and in the Dutch colonial world and also provides a fresh contribution to the ongoing debate on the relationship between abolitionism and economic political and cultural modernization in the Western world at large The contributors to this volume are Seymour Drescher Pieter C Emmer Stanley L Engerman Edwin Horlings Gerrit J Knaap Maarten Kuitenbrouwer Gert Oostindie Robert Ross Angelie Sens and Alex van Stipriaan Republicans Wyger Velema, 2007-10-31 The notion of being freeborn republicans bound the eighteenth century Dutch together and constituted a significant part of their sense of national identity Yet beneath this general label many fundamental differences existed Republicanism could stand for anti monarchism but it could also be a moral doctrine emphasizing the importance of the exercise of virtue or refer to a certain way of life During the revolutionary years of the late eighteenth century it came to mean the permanent and active sovereignty of the people This book explores the many varieties of eighteenth century Dutch republicanism from a number of different methodological perspectives It thereby significantly contributes to our understanding of a crucial period in the development of Dutch political thought Gender in Urban Europe Krista Cowman, Nina Javette Koefoed, Åsa Karlsson Sjögren, 2014-06-05 This volume offers an integrated set of local studies exploring the gendering of political activities across a variety of sites ranging from print culture courts government and philanthropic bodies and public spaces outlining how a particular activity was constituted as political and exploring how this contributed to a gendered concept of citizenship The comparative and transnational perspectives revealed through combining such work contributes to establishing new knowledge about the relationship between gender citizenship and the development of the modern town in Northern Europe
