Why It Doesn't Matter What You Believe If It's Not True:

Why It Doesn't Matter What You Believe If It's Not True Stephen McAndrew, 2012 We've all heard the statement and maybe even said it ourselves It's all relative But are moral truths relative If that is the case how then can there be universal human rights McAndrew's book argues that if there are universal human rights then moral truths also must be absolute Society has moved from a worldview that accepted the existence of absolute truth to a world of relative truth This paradigm shift was primarily motivated by a desire to render philosophy more scientific by eliminating metaphysical theories But the twentieth century witnessed another shift after the Second World War Out of that bloody conflict arose the recognition for the need to articulate human rights and hence the Universal Declaration of Human Rights However universal human rights make no sense in a morally relative world A relative theory of truth is inconsistent with morally condemning acts of others no matter how heinous Why It Doesn't Matter What You Believe If It Isn't True challenges those who embrace the human rights urge to honestly look at the contradiction between relative truth and universal human rights and examine without prejudice to see where this leads them This book is a concise and thoughtful call to value absolute moral truth The God Who Is There D. A. Carson, 2010-07-01 It can no longer be assumed that most people or even most Christians have a basic understanding of the Bible Many don't know the difference between the Old and New Testament and even the more well known biblical figures are often misunderstood It is getting harder to talk about Jesus accurately and compellingly because listeners have no proper context with which to understand God's story of redemption In this basic introduction to faith D. A. Carson takes seekers new Christians and small groups through the big story of Scripture He helps readers to know what they believe and why they believe it The companion leader's guide helps evangelistic study groups small groups and Sunday school classes make the best use of this book in group settings DELSAR : The Champion & The Hero A.D. Morway, 2021-02-05 The Queen is dead Her country blames the very man who swore to protect her at all costs the Queen's Champion The hate from the people of Ithendar is pushing this Champion deeper into an inescapable darkness as he slowly becomes the very thing he's accused of being With trolls mercenaries and political conspiracies all trying to smother the light a spirited girl escapes her doomed village to find this missing Champion She believes he's the only one who can save her village from its fate but not as the thug he's become Though saving her village from its impending destruction weighs heavy on her heart she first makes it her mission to save this Champion from himself Unfortunately for Elidria there are powerful forces who don't want to see the return of the Champion and make her plans seem impossible A long sword and her innocence are her weapons of choice as she battles both the physical and the emotional Beyond Fake News Justin P. McBrayer, 2020-09-22 The world is swimming in misinformation Conflicting messages bombard us every day with news on everything from politics and world events to investments and alternative health The daily paper nightly news websites and social media each compete for our attention and each often insist on a different version of the facts Inevitably we have questions Who is telling the truth How would we know How did we get here What can we do Beyond Fake News answers these and other queries It offers a technological and market based explanation for how our informational environment became so polluted It shows how purveyors of news often have incentives to mislead us and how consumers of information often have incentives to be misled And it chronicles how as technology improves and the regulatory burdens drop our information scape becomes ever more littered with misinformation Beyond Fake News argues that even when we really want the truth our minds are built in such a way so as to be incapable of grasping many facts and blind spots mar our view of the world But we can do better both as individuals and as a society As individuals we can improve the accuracy of our understanding of the world by knowing who to trust and recognizing our limitations And as a society we can take important steps to reduce the quantity and effects of misinformation They All Can't Be Right Steve Russo,2004 Includes bibliographic notes The long way to immortality, walking with beauty Karen Lee,2019-07-11 My family is very poor In order to supplement the family income I sell fruits downstairs of the school dormitory after school every day Many girls are my regular customers I usually start selling at six o clock and close the stall to go home at eight o clock This period is also the peak time for girls to buy fruits On Wednesday I don t know if it was because the shop was open late or what but there were not many people around and there was no business after 7 30 I was sitting at the stall feeling bored when my phone suddenly rang Like Enoch Mindy Aramouni,2014-10-14 Would the tunnel lead to the same walk as Enoch Mark Hepler is convinced God has provided a way for him to join his parents in heaven without dying Believing God has given an unexpected answer to ease his aching heart as well as obtain the love he thinks is forever lost Mark awaits the appointed moment to reunite with his parents In the meantime his worried uncle and aunt Nate and Ruthann Hepler who are oblivious to Mark s exact perception try to help him adjust to living with them as they attempt to promote his healing His once close relationship with his three cousins is strained resulting in problem after problem and Mark comes to believe he is not truly welcomed by any of his family members including the uncle Mark adores The day finally arrives for Mark s anticipated reunion but it holds unexpected and life changing circumstances for the entire family especially for Mark the young boy with an Enoch like hope to walk with God even if he is no more You will be drawn to the Hepler family in the 1950 s as soon as you begin reading Like Enoch They must deal with the sudden and unexpected addition of their orphaned nephew into their family of three sons following a tragic car accident Mindy Aramouni draws on her vast experience as a wife and mother of three including an adopted son and years as an elementary teacher to write a gentle and sensitive fictional account of love grief and empathy that should provide a way for families dealing with very non fictional issues to initiate talks that can lead to healing Pat James author of I Love Monday Mornings The Book Every Teacher Was Going to Write and Don t Miss School on Mondays
