The Travelling Triathlete Craig Jordan, 2011-10-12 While flicking through some photographs of a holiday in the Caribbean in 2009 Craig Jordan was appalled by what he saw an overweight out of shape middle aged man on a very slippery slope Craig decided there and then on a campaign to get Fit for Fifty and this became his mantra but the question was which sport Over the next few months he was a regular visitor in the gym and went out and bought a mountain bike but nothing seemed to inspire and getting the journey to get fit seemed destined to fail On a whim Craig entered a local triathlon and from that moment was hooked on the sport that over the next year took him on an incredible journey across 3 continents 16 countries meeting and training with the stars of the sport and in the process getting in better shape than he has ever been at any point in his life An inspiration not only to triathletes but for anyone who believes age is a roadblock to ultimate fitness

Teaching Games and Sport for Understanding Shane Pill, Ellen-Alyssa Gambles, Linda Griffin, 2023-05-02 This new book brings together leading and innovative thinkers in the field of teaching and sport coaching pedagogy to provide a range of perspectives on teaching games and sport for understanding Teaching Games and Sport for Understanding engages undergraduate and postgraduate students in physical education and sport coaching practicing teachers practicing sport coaches teacher educators and coach developers The contributions taken together or individually provide insight learning and opportunities to foster game based teaching and coaching ideas and provide conceptual and methodological clarity where a sense of pedagogical confusion may exist Each chapter raises issues that can resonate with the teacher and sport practitioner and researcher In this way the chapters can assist one to make sense of their own teaching or sport coaching provide deeper insight into personal conceptualisations of the concept of game based teaching and sport coaching or stimulate reflections on their own teaching or coaching or the contexts they are involved in Teaching games and sport for understanding in various guises and pedagogical models has been proposed as leading practice for session design and instructional delivery of sport teaching in PE and sport coaching since the late 1960s At its core it is a paradigm shift from what can be described as a behaviourist model of highly directive instruction for player replication of teacher coach explanation and demonstration to instructional models that broadly are aimed at the development of players self autonomy as self regulated learners thinking players This innovative new volume both summarises current thinking debates and practical considerations about the broad spectrum of what teaching games for understanding means as well as providing direction for further practical pragmatic and research consideration of the concept and its precepts and as such is key reading for both undergraduate and postgraduate students of physical education and sport coaching as well as practicing teachers and sport coaches

Why Would Anyone Do That? Stephen C. Poulson, 2016-04-19 Triathlons such as the famously arduous Ironman Triathlon and extreme mountain biking hair raising events held over exceedingly dangerous terrain are prime examples of the new lifestyle sports that have grown in recent years from oddball pursuits practiced by a handful of characters into multi million dollar industries In Why Would Anyone Do That sociologist Stephen C Poulson offers a fascinating exploration of these new and physically demanding sports shedding light on why some people find them so compelling Drawing on interviews with lifestyle sport competitors on his own experience as a participant on advertising for lifestyle sport equipment and on editorial content of adventure sport magazines Poulson addresses a wide range of issues He notes that these sports are often described as authentic challenges which help keep athletes sane given the demands they confront in their day to day lives But is it really beneficial to work so hard at play Is the discipline required to do these sports really an expression of freedom or do these sports actually impose extraordinary degrees of conformity upon these athletes Why Would Anyone Do That grapples with these questions and more generally with whether lifestyle sport should always be considered good for people Poulson also looks at what happens when a sport becomes a commodity even a sport that may have begun as a reaction against corporate and professional sport arguing that commodification inevitably plays a role in determining who plays and also how and why the sport is played It can even help provide the meaning that athletes assign to their participation in the sport Finally the book explores the intersections of race class and gender with respect to participation in lifestyle and endurance sports noting in particular that there is a near complete absence of people of color in most of these contests In addition Poulson examines how concepts of masculinity in triathlons have changed as women s roles in this sport increase
