What After Transition Focus Romania:

Focus: Music, Nationalism, and the Making of the New Europe Philip V. Bohlman, 2010-09-13 Two decades after the fall of communism in Eastern Europe and one decade into the twenty first century European music remains one of the most powerful forces for shaping nationalism Using intensive fieldwork throughout Europe from participation in alpine foot pilgrimages to studies of the grandest music spectacle anywhere in the world the Eurovision Song Contest Philip V Bohlman reveals the ways in which music and nationalism intersect in the shaping of the New Europe Focus Music Nationalism and the Making of the New Europe begins with the emergence of the European nation state in the Middle Ages and extends across long periods during which Europe's nations used music to compete for land and language and to expand the colonial reach of Europe to the entire world Bohlman contrasts the national and the nationalist in music examining the ways in which their impact on society can be positive and negative beneficial for European cultural policy and dangerous in times when many European borders are more fragile than ever The New Europe of the twenty first century is more varied more complex and more politically volatile than ever and its music resonates fully with these transformations Democratic Consolidation and Europeanization in Romania Sergiu Mişcoiu, 2021-09-07 This volume is a multi dimensional analysis of Romania's political economic cultural and societal transformation after 1989 It synthetically depicts the main stages of the processes of democratic transition and consolidation as well as the subsequent phenomena of Europeanization but also the series of more recent democratic setbacks that affected the Romanian society The overall perspective is integrative providing the reader with a balanced and complete understanding of Romania's post communist challenges without being spared of the most sensitive aspects The volume gathers the contributions of some of the most distinguished experts in different sub fields of transition studies including political systems societal transformations minority rights macro economic dynamics and foreign policy What/Who Are We After the Transition? Focus on Romania Dorel Ailenei, Anca Dachin, Cătălin

Huidumac-Petrescu, Mariana Ioviţu, Marius-Corneliu Marina, Christina Marta Suciuc, 2015 What Who are we After the Transition is not only an expression fit for a book title but also a tense issue whose rational solutions are slow in coming amid the vibrating emotion for the life changing consistency differential The prospects of long processes cover a life expectancy but in Romania where generations of sacrifice succeeded one after another time does not have enough patience to run smoothly The assessment made in this book is an attempt at decoding what has been done by the last generation i.e. the transitional generation from communism to capitalism The authors reunited under the Research and Economic Analysis Centre part of the Department of Economics and Economic Policies from the Faculty of Theoretical and Applied Economics which is part of the Bucharest University of Economics In their analyses the authors refer to the mental milestones of Romanian society that was built on frail social slopes The different parts of Romanian society do not always agree with each other between what we are and what we stand for as a people or as nation between what we can and what we do between what we want and what we have The topics referred to herein come with a bit of historical background but they are approached starting with the need to explain why things happened this way and why it is not as we expected from the standpoint of higher individual and societal amenities The authors were driven by the moral burden to identify a progress generating formula even under tough external constraints stemming from any arrangement conditionality or commitment undertaken by an open economy country with Western geostrategic options

Representative Bureaucracy in Action Patrick von Maravić,B. Guy Peters,Eckhard Schröter,2013-01-01 This volume confronts one of the most central issues in the study and practice of bureaucracy Questions about representativeness of public institutions raises key issues about legitimacy especially in contexts characterised by ethnic diversity and cleavages Debates are shaped by normatively informed positions that contrasts those in favour of representativeness with those who point to limitations and side effects This volume offers a set of important contributions to these debates by linking the long standing debates about representative bureaucracy with an impressive range of country studies This volume is a fundamental contribution to the theme of representative bureaucracy Martin Lodge London School of Economics UK The book explores one of the most topical issues of public bureaucracies worldwide the relationship between the composition of the public sector workforce and the nature of the society it serves Taking a comparative and analytical perspective the authoritatively yet accessibly written country chapters show how salient the politics of representativeness have become in increasingly diverse societies At the same time they illustrate the wide variety of practice based on different political systems administrative structures and cultural settings Providing comprehensive up to date information and analysis these studies will interest scholars and practitioners alike from comparative public administration and management government public policy and diversity studies

The Romanian Mass Media and Cultural Development David Berry,2004 This assesses the development of the mass media since the Romanian Revolution in December 1989 and the media s impact on cultural development the public sphere civil society and democracy It controversially claims that Romania s failure to experience a thoroughgoing enlightenment project in its entire history remains a major obstacle for producing democratic ownership of the media and democratic development of society development the book also discusses the effects of Romanian law on media and societal development ethics and media responsibilities It concludes however that far from having an absolutely negative impact on Romanian post communism the media has helped produce a contradictory empirical form that equally contains positive moments in terms of subjective cultural development Blueprints, Red Tape, and Shades of Gray.
