The Works of Herman Melville: White jacket, or, The world in a man-of-war Herman Melville, 1922 White-jacket, Or, The World in a Man-of-war Herman Melville, 1922 White Jacket; Or, the World in a Man-of-war Herman Melville, 2016-11-14

White Jacket or The World in a Man of War is the fifth book by American writer Herman Melville first published in London in 1850 and is considered to be a semi biographical book written from Melville's own personal experiences while returning home to the Atlantic Coast from the South Seas with the American Navy on a man of war vessel. In the note preceding the novel Melville states: "In the year 1843 I shipped as ordinary seaman on board of a United States frigate then lying in a harbor of the Pacific Ocean. After remaining in this frigate for more than a year I was discharged from the service." Herman Melville (August 1, 1819 – September 28, 1891) was an American novelist, short story writer, and poet of the American Renaissance period. His best known works include Typee (1846), a romantic account of his experiences in Polynesian life, and his whaling novel Moby-Dick (1851). His work was almost forgotten during his last thirty years. His writing draws on his experience at sea as a common sailor, exploration of literature and philosophy, and engagement in the contradictions of American society in a period of rapid change. He developed a complex baroque style; the vocabulary is rich and original, a strong sense of rhythm infuses the elaborate sentences, the imagery is often mystical or ironic, and the abundance of allusion extends to Scripture, myth, philosophy, literature, and the visual arts. Born in New York City as the third child of a merchant in French dry goods, Melville's formal education ended abruptly after his father died in 1832, leaving the family in financial straits. Melville briefly became a schoolteacher before he took to sea in 1839 as a common sailor on a merchant ship. In 1840 he signed aboard the whaler Acushnet for his first whaling voyage but jumped ship in the Marquesas Islands. After further adventures, he returned to Boston in 1844. His first book, Typee (1845), a highly romanticized account of his life among Polynesians, became such a best seller that he worked up a sequel, Omoo (1847). These successes encouraged him to marry Elizabeth Shaw of a prominent Boston family, but they were hard to sustain. His first novel not based on his own experiences, Mardi (1849), is a sea narrative that develops into a philosophical allegory but was not well received. Redburn (1849), a story of life on a merchant ship, and his 1850 expose of harsh life aboard a Man of War, White Jacket, yielded warmer reviews but not financial security. In August 1850 Melville moved his growing family to Arrowhead, a farm near Pittsfield, Massachusetts, where he established a profound but short-lived friendship with Nathaniel Hawthorne, to whom he dedicated Moby-Dick. Moby-Dick was another commercial failure, published to mixed reviews. Melville's career as a popular author effectively ended with the cool reception of Pierre (1852), in part a satirical portrait of the literary scene. His Revolutionary War novel Israel Potter appeared in 1855. From 1853 to 1856 Melville published short fiction in magazines, most notably Bartleby the Scrivener (1853), The Encantadas (1854), and Benito Cereno (1855). These and three other stories were collected in 1856 as The Piazza Tales. In 1857 he voyaged to England, where he reunited with Hawthorne for the first time since 1852 and then went on to tour the Near

East The Confidence Man 1857 was the last prose work he published during his lifetime He moved to New York to take a position as Customs Inspector and turned to poetry Battle Pieces and Aspects of the War 1866 was his poetic reflection on the moral questions of the Civil War

White Jacket, the World on a Man-of-War Herman Melville, 2015-12-28 THE JACKET It was not a very white jacket but white enough in all conscience as the sequel will show The way I came by it was this When our frigate lay in Callao on the coast of Peru her last harbour in the Pacific I found myself without a grego or sailor s surtout and as toward the end of a three years cruise no pea jackets could be had from the purser s steward and being bound for Cape Horn some sort of a substitute was indispensable I employed myself for several days in manufacturing an outlandish garment of my own devising to shelter me from the boisterous weather we were so soon to encounter It was nothing more than a white duck frock or rather shirt which laying on deck I folded double at the bosom and by then making a continuation of the slit there opened it lengthwise much as you would cut a leaf in the last new novel The gash being made a metamorphosis took place transcending any related by Ovid For presto the shirt was a coat a strange looking coat to be sure of a Quakerish amplitude about the skirts with an infirm tumble down collar and a clumsy fullness about the wristbands and white yea white as a shroud And my shroud it afterward came very near proving as he who reads further will find But bless me my friend what sort of a summer jacket is this in which to weather Cape Horn A very tasty and beautiful white linen garment it may have seemed but then people almost universally sport their linen next to their skin
