book brings together the latest information on tropical ungulates in different Latin American countries. These animals are not only important from the point of view of their role in different ecosystems but also have cultural value for people. The book also discusses topics such as habitat transformation and hunting as these species are an important source of food in many places. Addressing ungulate natural communities in diverse ecosystems and countries, the book provides information on specific aspects of each of the most representative species and highlights topics to help readers better understand these species and develop effective management and conservation strategies. The information presented also reveals the need for more knowledge and will hopefully provide the incentive for continued studies on this important group of animals. This publication serves as a reference for academic research on ungulate ecology, behavior and dynamics as well as the basis for conservation strategies.

Atlas of terrestrial mammals of the Ionian and Aegean islands Marco Masseti, 2012-10-30
The goal of this book is to foster better knowledge of the mammalian fauna of the Mediterranean islands. The atlas presents the current state of knowledge of the past and present distribution of the non flying terrestrial mammals of the Ionian and Aegean islands. It provides a distribution map for each species with extensive references and a description of all the mammalian taxa. The book also focuses on the important role of human beings in the redefinition of the insular ecological equilibrium as well as on the environmental impact of biological invasions. The protection and study of this fauna can provide an opportunity for testing a range of different evolutionary theories.

Sika Deer: Life History, Plasticity and Management Koichi Kaji, Hiroyuki Uno, Hayato Iijima, 2022-06-20
This book provides complete and up to date information on sika deer biology and its management, focusing on their life history with an integrated approach of population dynamics, morphology, genetics and evolution. The expanding distribution of sika and its increase in population in Japan and other countries are causing damage to agriculture and forestry, impacting ecosystems and affecting other species. We are facing conflicting deer issues regarding the conservation of resource values and pest control of sika deer. This contributed volume compiles new findings focusing on the ecological plasticity of the sika deer. It aims to clarify the ecological characteristics of the deer by integrating studies of different approaches and provides a perspective for their management. The book consists of six parts. Part I introduces the ecological and management background behind the history of sika deer. The following four parts discuss movement ecology. Part II impact on vegetation and bottom up effect on sika deer. Part III impact on ecosystem and its resilience. Part IV and comparison of life history characteristics between sika deer and other ungulate species. Part V The last part. Part VI covers the science based management of sika deer. Contributed by recognized experts and young researchers of sika deer, this book appeals to researchers and professionals in wildlife biology and wildlife management, evolution, population dynamics, morphology, genetics and reproductive physiology.

Terrestrial Cetartiodactyla Luca Corlatti, Frank E. Zachos, 2022-09-29
This volume provides comprehensive overviews of each terrestrial cetartiodactyl species biology, including palaeontology, physiology, genetics, reproduction and development, ecology, habitat and diet. Their economic significance and management as well as future challenges for research and conservation are also addressed Each chapter includes a distribution map a photograph of the animal and key literature This authoritative volume of the Handbook of the Mammals of Europe is a timely and detailed compilation of all European terrestrial cetartiodactyls and will appeal to academics and students in mammal research as well as to professionals dealing with mammal management including control use and conservation
