What Bereaved Parents Want You to Know (But May Not Say) Kathleen B. Duncan, 2015-10-29 When a parent loses a child friends and family want to help Rarely however do we know what to do In this short book Kathleen Duncan shares some of what she learned after the death of her twenty year old son in a car wreck Kathleen writes about her own grief journey and about healing with the help of a living loving God on her blog www.kathleenbduncan.com With honesty and transparency Kathleen shares her journey through grief into grace She also shares what she has learned as she walks alongside friends and family who have lost children of all ages some to miscarriage or stillbirth others to accidents illness suicide and even murder This informative book is designed to help grieving parents It will also be of value to those of us who wish to help those who grieve

Journeys Through Grief Tammie Thomson, 1998-01-07 As a bereaved parent you're often alone it's to make people understand just what you're going through and what you need from them And as a support person it's hard to know what to say what to do what to expect and how to help our bereaved friends With stories from over 60 parents grandparents and siblings who have been through the death of a child and honest comments on the support they received and needed this book is just what bereaved families and caring professionals need

Bound by Love Laura Mattoon D'Amore, 2011-05-25 What does it mean to be bound by love Sometimes the bonds of love supply bliss and sometimes they demand sacrifice Sometimes experiencing love saves people and sometimes it kills them Being bound by love often engenders moral responsibility in other cases it enslaves and imprisons the soul American mythologies especially those presented in film and television perpetuate love as the central narrative of one's life the search for a connection forged by love permeates every facet of human existence from our desire to be accepted or our longing to be needed to our fury at being rejected Sometimes love is the stuff of happiness fulfilling in every regard But there are also times when love makes us do things we should not do sometimes it turns us into people we do not want to become The commonality between love that satisfies and love that destroys is the bond between people who open themselves to the vulnerability of love Examination of the theme of familial bonds in film and television explores how the process of forming and maintaining those bonds complicates revises and reproduces ideas about love The chapters in this book explore how the nature of bonds and familial responsibility inform a popular cultural dialogue about the changing nature of the American family over the past sixty years
