What Is History What Is History:

What Is History? Edward Hallett Carr, 1967-10-12 Who is to say how things really were In formulating a modern answer to the question What is History Professor Carr shows that the facts of history are simply those which historians have selected for scrutiny Millions have crossed the Rubicon but the historians tell us that only Caesar's crossing was significant All historical facts come to us as a result of interpretative choices by historians influenced by the standards of their age Yet if absolute objectivity is impossible the role of the historian need in no way suffer nor does history lose its fascination With lucidity Carr casts a light on the proper function of the historian and the vital importance of history in modern society This is an admirably stimulating and intrepid book a bold excursion into a region of central importance where most contemporary philosophers and historians unaccountably either fear or disdain to tread Isaiah Berlin New Statesman What is History? Michael Oakeshott, 2004 This is a collection of 30 pieces by Michael Oakeshott almost all of which are previously unpublished covering every decade of his intellectual career The essays were intended mostly for lectures or seminars and retain an informal style that makes them accessible to readers What is History? History G. J. Renier, 2016-04-14. This treatise of historical methodology originally published in 1950 is based upon a liberal conception of history which excludes no narrator of past events from the ranks of historians. It defines history as the accurate story which preserves the memory of the past experiences of human societies. The function of history determines its method and provides the answer to the question how secure is our knowledge of the past. In the author's view history is empirical and its results are for ever provisional. The relative merits of dogmatism and scepticism are examined and several interpretations among English historians are scrutinized.

The Meaning of History Frederic Harrison, 1902.

On 'what is History?' Keith Jenkins, 1995. Jenkins provides a student introduction to contemporary historiographical debates. Through its radical critique of Carr and Elton he embraces the postmodern type approaches of thinkers such as Richard Rorty and Hayden White.
