1. Read the Source (100%)

- a. What were the three main points that Wooten was making in his letter to the British House of Commons?

First, Wooten said that King George didn't have the power to establish a church or any other institution by authority alone. King George wanted to establish a church without a church method or religious privilege. Clearly, Wooten was stating his opposition.

- b. What specific points did Wooten make about the establishment of the Church of England in the House of Commons?

Wooten stated that the church was established by the king's authority, not by the church's authority. Wooten stated that the church was established by the king's authority, not by the church's authority.

- c. How did Wooten's argument influence the House of Commons' decision?

The argument Wooten made led to the House of Commons' decision to reject the king's proposal to establish a church by authority alone.

- d. What did Wooten say about the king's power to establish a church by authority alone?

Wooten stated that the king's power to establish a church by authority alone was not absolute, and that the king's power to establish a church by authority alone was not absolute. Wooten stated that the king's power to establish a church by authority alone was not absolute.

- e. What did Wooten say about the king's power to establish a church by authority alone?

Wooten stated that the king's power to establish a church by authority alone was not absolute, and that the king's power to establish a church by authority alone was not absolute. Wooten stated that the king's power to establish a church by authority alone was not absolute.
