Understanding Different Geographies Karel Kriz, William Cartwright, Michaela Kinberger, 2012-10-10 This book collects revised versions of papers first delivered at the Understanding Different Geographies Symposium held in Puchberg am Schneeberg Austria in 2011 The Symposium focussed on Communicating Meaning with Geo Graphic Artefacts The general topics of the chapters cover Exploring geographic knowledge Maps in exhibition spaces Information and exhibition design with geo graphic artefacts Extracting meaning from visualisations of different geographies Deconstructing maps of information and other spaces

Mapping Different Geographies Karel Kriz, William Cartwright, Lorenz Hurni, 2010-09-15 This book is the outcome of the work of contributors who participated in the workshop Mapping Different Geographies MDG in February 2010 held in Puchberg am Schneeberg Austria This meeting brought together cartographers artists and geoscientists who research and practice in applications that focus on enhancing or to one communication or develop and evaluate methodologies that provide innovative methods for sharing information The main intention of the workshop was to investigate how different geographies are being mapped and the possibilities for developing new theories and techniques for information design and transfer based on place or location So as to communicate these concepts it was important to appreciate the many contrasting meanings of mapping that were held by workshop participants Also the many and varied viewpoints of what different geographies are were elaborated upon and discussed Therefore as the focus on space and time was embedded within everyone's fields of investigation this was addressed during the workshop This resulted in very engaging discourse which in some cases exposed the restrictions that certain approaches need to consider For participants this proved to be most useful as this allowed them to appreciate the limits and restrictions of their own approach to understanding and representing different geographies As well the workshop also was most helpful as a vehicle for demonstrating the common ground of interest held by the very diverse areas of endeavour that the workshop participants work within

Literary Mapping in the Digital Age David Cooper, Christopher Donaldson, Patricia Murrieta-Flores, 2016-05-20 Drawing on the expertise of leading researchers from around the globe this pioneering collection of essays explores how geospatial technologies are revolutionizing the discipline of literary studies The book offers the first intensive examination of digital literary cartography a field whose recent and rapid development has yet to be coherently analysed This collection not only provides an authoritative account of the current state of the field but also informs a new generation of digital humanities scholars about the critical and creative potentials of digital literary mapping The book showcases the work of exemplary literary mapping projects and provides the reader with an overview of the tools techniques and methods those projects employ

Routes and Roads in Anatolia from Prehistory to Seljuk Times Lutgarde Vandeput, Stephen Mitchell, 2025-08-05 Turkey has always been a crossroads and therefore offers an ideal location to study interaction between individuals and human communities and societies through time Interaction has always necessarily involved movement which in turn did not occur randomly in the landscape but was instead focused on routes and roads that secured faster and easier connections There is substantial evidence that exchange networks already existed in Anatolia at least since the Neolithic period with goods traveling over long distances From the second millennium BC onwards textual evidence has improved understanding of traveling routes The Roman long distance road network has been a focus of research over decades but local roads and pathways around individual sites are still mostly unknown Byzantine roads have also received attention whereas the Seljuk road and routes system is less well known It is likely that the younger roads and routes are overlying older ones at least partially but these palimpsests of older roads are hardly researched In this volume experts from different disciplines using a variety of methods and approaches aim to transcend the present fragmentation of knowledge and create a new level of understanding of connecting road and route systems in Anatolia throughout time for the first time

Literary Atlas Jon Anderson, 2024-12-26 This book documents a new approach to literary geographies based around the Literary Atlas of Wales It introduces an innovative plotted approach which empowers reading creates connections to localities histories and communities and inspires interest in literature and geography It showcases how literary geographies can be mobilized through the plotted approach to reading Through documenting the Literary Atlas of Wales project this book outlines how the plotted approach was used to engage with English language novels set in Wales It argues that the future of this interdisciplinary subject area should be premised upon nurturing instability turbulence and experimentation in order to produce new insights which can change the way we understand the relations not only between literature and place but also between other modern categories including academic

Thinking Big Data in Geography Jim Thatcher, 2018
Thinking Big Data in Geography offers a practical state of the field overview of big data as both a means and an object of research with essays from prominent and emerging scholars such as Rob Kitchin, Renee Sieber and Mark Graham. Part 1 explores how the advent of geospatial technologies and big data sets has influenced some of geography's major subdisciplines: urban politics and political economy, human environment interactions and geographic information sciences. Part 2 addresses how the geographic study of big data has implications for other disciplinary fields, notably the digital humanities and the study of social justice. The volume concludes with theoretical applications of the geospatial and big data as they pertain to society as a whole, examining the ways in which user-generated data come into the world and are complicit in its unfolding. The contributors raise caution regarding the use of spatial big data, citing issues of accuracy, surveillance and privacy.

Geographies of the Platform Economy Mário Vale, Daniela Ferreira, Nuno Rodrigues, 2024-06-17 This book provides a wider understanding of the geographies of the platform economy, focusing on the critical perspectives that have emerged on this new economic and digital context. Technological development, particularly the emergence of big data in combination with platforms, additive manufacturing, advanced robotics, machine learning and the Internet of Things, has created conditions for the appearance of a new economic context, predominantly based on new forms of services. This new economic context has been described as the platform economy or platform capitalism. Other designations have also appeared to describe particular consequences of this new phenomena, such as the gig economy or the sharing economy. There is a significant diversity of scientific fields that are studying topics related to the platform economy. Several studies have emerged from different fields.

including but not limited to geography economy sociology information science management marketing or the humanities However geography has become an important field to understand the platform economy given its critical position over the economic cultural and social issues that stem from this new economic context The purpose of this book is to approach these discussions and offer a critical view of the platform economy from the perspective of geography stemming from the different subfields of the discipline and not restricted to what has been referred to as Digital Geography This book will appeal to scholars undergraduate and postgraduate students in the social sciences It will be particularly relevant to those with research interests in digital geographies and economic geography economics and business
