Unfinished Portrait Poems English And English Edition:

On the Laws of the Poetic Art Anthony Hecht, 2023-10-17 A magisterial exploration of poetry's place in the fine arts by one of the twentieth century's leading poets In this book eminent poet Anthony Hecht explores the art of poetry and its relationship to the other fine arts While the problems he treats entail both philosophic and theoretical discussion he never allows abstract speculation to overshadow his delight in the written texts that he introduces or in the specific examples of painting and music to which he refers After discussing literature's links with painting and music Hecht investigates the theme of paradise and wilderness especially in Shakespeare's The Tempest He then turns to the question of public and private art exploring the ways in which all the arts participate in balances between private and public modes of discourse and between an exclusive or elitist role and the openly political Beginning with a discussion of architecture as an illustration of a more general theme of discord and balance the penultimate lecture probes the inner contradictions of works of art and our reactions to them while the final piece concerns art and morality

In the Frame Jane Hedley, Nick Halpern, Willard Spiegelman, 2009 The subject of In the Frame is poetic ekphrasis poems whose starting point or source of inspiration is a work of visual art The authors of these sixteen essays several of whom are poets as well as critics have a twofold purpose calling attention to the contribution women poets have made to this important genre of poetic writing and rethinking ekphrastic poetry's motives and purposes From Marianne Moore and Elizabeth Bishop to Mary Jo Salter C D Wright and Susan Wheeler many of our best women poets have done important work in this genre and when they describe confront or speak for an image that is itself wordless their motives are not only formal but aesthetic Their poems also raise important questions from a perspective that is often but not always gender inflected about how art is made and displayed experienced and valued celebrated and commodified Jane Hedley is K Laurence Stapleton Professor of English at Bryn Mawr College Willard Spiegelman is the Hughes Professor of English at Southern Methodist University and editor in chief of the Southwest Review Nick Halpern is an associate professor in the English Department at North Carolina State University

The Modern Portrait Poem Frances Dickey, 2012-06-29 In The Modern Portrait Poem Frances Dickey recovers the portrait as a poetic genre from the 1860s through the 1920s Combining literary and art history she examines the ways Dante Gabriel Rossetti Algernon Swinburne and J M Whistler transformed the genre of portraiture in both painting and poetry She then shows how their new ways of looking at and thinking about the portrait subject migrated across the Atlantic to influence Ezra Pound T S Eliot William Carlos Williams Amy Lowell E E Cummings and other poets These poets creatively exposed the Victorian portrait to new influences ranging from Manet's realism to modern dance Futurism and American avant garde art They also condensed expanded and combined the genre with other literary modes including epitaph pastoral and Bildungsroman Dickey challenges the tendency to view Modernism as a break with the past and as a transition from aural to visual orientation She argues that the Victorian poets and painters inspired the new generation of Modernists to test their vision of Aestheticism against their perception of modernity and the relationship between image and text In bridging historical periods national boundaries and disciplinary distinctions Dickey makes a case for the continuity of this genre over the Victorian Modernist divide and from Britain to the United States in a time of rapid change in the arts Literary News, 1901 Literary News L.
