SRA Open Court Reading, 2002 Teaching with Love Lisa S. Goldstein, 1997 Teachers commonly talk about loving their students yet no effort has been made to explore the powerful educational potential inherent in these loving feelings Teaching with Love breaks new ground by paying careful scholarly attention to the nature the scope the dimensions and the variety of teacherly love In a highly readable narrative that builds on the feminist notion of an ethic of care and draws from the fields of psychology and women's studies this book examines and analyzes the experiences of two primary grade teachers as they set about trying to create and enact a vision of early childhood education centered around loving relationships

Dispositional Development and Assessment in Teacher Preparation Programs von Hohenberg, Sara Clemm, 2022-05-27 Little research exists on teacher dispositions yet accrediting bodies such as the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation CAEP require dispositional assessment as an integral part of teacher preparation programs Furthermore research has shown that dispositions are a key indicator in teacher success both in terms of instructional effectiveness and long term retention Teacher preparation programs require research examples and support in understanding the desired dispositions of teachers as well as how to implement these qualities and characteristics into a robust curriculum Teacher preparation programs also need help in articulating how to assess dispositional traits of teachers and how to provide remediation in this area Dispositional Development and Assessment in Teacher Preparation Programs addresses dispositional development for teachers including the definition instruction practical application and assessment of dispositional traits It includes research involving teacher development and preparation for the enhancement of instructional practices and teacher retention Covering topics such as culturally relevant pedagogy social emotional learning and teaching philosophy this premier reference source is an excellent resource for preservice teachers teacher preparation programs faculty and administration of K-12 and higher education academic libraries accrediting bodies researchers and academicians

Instructional Models in Reading Steven A. Stahl, David A. Hayes, 2013-04-03 This book started with a simple idea examine models of reading instruction that have emerged during the past 20 years These models span a wide range of instruction representing a continuum from highly structured task analytic instruction to child centered and holistic instruction Each model has its own epistemology or views on how reading and instruction are to be defined The different epistemologies indicate different principles of instruction which in turn indicate different practices in the classroom Each model is also supported by a different research base In this volume leading proponents of these different models discuss their ideas about reading instruction thereby encouraging readers to make their own comparisons and contrasts The chapter authors seem to adopt the editors eclectic approach to some greater or lesser extent incorporating aspects of other models into their instruction as they see other goals Thus models of reading instruction are complex Complicating matters further is the fact that teachers hold their own models of reading which may or may not be congruent with those discussed here Although academically developed models influence college preservice and in service instruction teachers own models of reading filter the information that they take from what they learn from these perspectives By carefully examining these variables this book makes a firm contribution toward disciplined inquiry into what it means to teach reading

The Journey to Work Kate K. Liepmann, 1944 I Wouldn't Take Nothin' for My Journey Leonidas H. Berry, 1981 Chronicles the impact of the African Methodist Episcopal Church on the lives of several generations of one Afro American family

Integrating Digital Literacy in the Disciplines Lauren Hays, Jenna Kammer, 2023-07-03 Digital literacy has become the vital competency that students need to master before graduating This book provides rich examples of how to integrate it in disciplinary courses While many institutions are developing introductory courses to impart universal literacy skills students need to know and creative literacy skills for creating new content discipline specific skills skills needed to succeed within a specific discipline are a vital extension to their learning and ability to apply digital literacy in different contexts This book provides examples of how to integrate digital literacy across a wide variety of courses spanning many domains Rather than a wholly new core institutional outcome digital literacy adds to the development of critical thinking communication problem solving and teamwork skills by building students capacities to assess online information so they can ethically share communicate or repurpose it through the appropriate use of available digital technologies In short it provides the vital digital dimension to their learning and the literacy skills which will be in increasing demand in their future lives Following introductory chapters providing context and a theoretical framework the contributing authors from different disciplines share the digital competencies and skills needed within their fields the strategies they use to teach them and insights about the choices they made What shines through the examples is that regardless of the specificity of the disciplinary examples they offer all readers a commonality of approach and a trove of ideas that can be adapted to other contexts This book constitutes a practical introduction for faculty interested in including opportunities to apply digital literacy to discipline specific content The book will benefit faculty developers and instructional designers who work with disciplinary faculty to integrate digital literacy The book underscores the importance of preparing students at the course

level to create and be assessed on digital content as fields are modernizing and delivery formats of assignments are evolving Domains covered include digital literacy in teacher education writing musicology indigenous literary studies communications journalism business information technology strategic management chemistry biology health sciences optometry school librarianship and law The book demonstrates a range of approaches that can used to teach digital literacy skills in the classroom including Progressing from digital literacy to digital fluency Increasing digital literacy by creating digital content Assessment of digital literacy Identifying ethical considerations with digital literacy Sharing digital content outside of the classroom Identifying misinformation in digital communications Digitizing instructional practices like lab notes and essays Reframing digital literacy from assumption to opportunity Preparing students to teach digital literacy to others Collaborating with other departments on campus to support digital literacy instruction Incorporating media into digital literacy digital media literacy Using digital storytelling and infographics to teach content knowledge Weaving digital literacy throughout the curriculum of a program and with increasing depth
