

The background of the cover is a photograph of a vast mountain landscape. In the foreground, several hikers are seen from behind, standing on a rocky, sparsely vegetated ridge. They are looking out over a deep valley where a river or stream winds through green hills. In the distance, more mountain ranges are visible under a blue sky with scattered white clouds. The overall color palette is dominated by blues, greys, and greens.

The Routledge Handbook of Tourism in Asia C. Michael Hall, Stephen J. Page, 2016-09-13 Asia is regarded as the fastest growing area for international and domestic tourism in the world today and over the next 20 years. Given the economic, social and environmental importance of tourism in the region, there is a need for a comprehensive and readable overview of the critical debates and controversies in tourism in the region and the major factors that are affecting tourism development both now and in the foreseeable future. This Handbook provides a contemporary survey of the region and its continued growth and development as a key destination and generator of tourism, which is marked by a high proportion of intra-regional travel. The book is divided into five sections. This first section provides an introduction to the region and context to the nationally focused chapters. The next three sections are then broadly based on the three UNWTO Asian regions: South East Asia, South and Central Asia, and East and North East Asia, providing readers with a valuable snapshot of tourism at various scales and from various approaches and positions. The concluding section considers future prospects for tourism in Asia. The handbook is interdisciplinary in coverage and is also international in scope through its authorship and content. It presents a range of perspectives and understanding of the processes and forces that are shaping tourism in this fascinating and dynamic region that is one of the focal points of global tourism. This is essential reading for students researchers and academics interested in tourism in the growth region of Asia now and in the future      Routledge Handbook on Tourism in the Middle East and North Africa Dallen Timothy, 2018-12-07 The Routledge Handbook on Tourism in the Middle East and North Africa examines the importance of tourism as a historical economic social environmental religious and political force in the Middle East and North Africa MENA It highlights the ecological and resource challenges related to water desert environments climate change and oil It provides an in depth analysis of the geopolitical conditions that have long determined the patterns of tourism demand and supply throughout the region and how these play out in the everyday lives of residents and destinations as they attempt to grow tourism or ignore it entirely While cultural heritage remains the primary tourism asset for the region as a whole many new types of tourisms are emerging especially in the Arabian Gulf region where hyper development is closely associated with the increasingly prominent role of luxury real estate and shopping retail medical tourism cruises and transit tourism The growing phenomenon of an expatriate workforce and how its segregation from the citizenry creates a dual socio economic system in several countries is unmatched by other regions of the world Many indigenous people of MENA keep themselves apart from other dominant groups in the region although these social boundaries are becoming increasingly blurred as tourism being one socio economic force for change has inspired many nomadic peoples to settle into towns and villages and rely more on tourists for their livelihoods All of these issues and more shape the foundations of this book This Handbook is the first of its kind to examine tourism from a broad regional and inclusive perspective surveying a broad range of social cultural heritage ecological and political matters in a single volume With a wide range of contributors many of whom are natives of the Middle East and North Africa this Handbook is a vital resource for students and scholars interested in Tourism Middle East Studies and Geography      The Geography of Tourism and Recreation C. Tourism in European Microstates and Dependencies Dallen J. Timothy, 2020-11-06 Tourism in European Microstates and Dependencies carefully examines the nuances and realities associated with tourism social and economic development geography and geopolitics of Europe s smallest microstates and dependencies Through case study based material the book covers the smallest states of Europe the European dependencies inside Europe and other unique territorial anomalies and unrecognized de facto states It looks at how besides small size and economy of scale one of the characteristics that connects these unique states and territories is their dependence on tourism or their desire to develop it for their socio economic well being International Tourism Development and the Gulf Cooperation Council States Marcus L. Stephenson, Ala Al-Hamarneh, 2017-07-14 This book examines the challenges facing the development of tourism in the six member states of the Gulf Cooperation Council GCC Bahrain Kuwait Oman Qatar Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates UAE This region which largely comprises the Arabian Peninsula possesses some of the fastest growing economies in the world and is remarkably unique It shares similar associations and affinities tribal histories royal kinship political associations Bedu cultural roots Islamic heritage rapid urbanization oil wealth rentier dynamics state capitalist structures migrant labour economic diversification policies and institutional restructuring Therefore this volume takes the study of tourism away from its normative unit of analysis where tourism in the region is being examined within the context of the Middle East and the wider Islamic and Arab world towards an enquiry focusing on a specific geo political territory and socially defined region Although international tourism development in the region embodies a range of challenges complexities and conflicts which are deeply contextualized in this volume the approach overall does not endorse the normative Gulf bashing position that has predominated within the critical enquiries in the region It presents a forward looking and realistic assessment of international tourism development examining development potentialities and constructive ways forward for GCC states and the region as a whole This edited volume provides a real attempt to examine critically ways in which tourism and its development intersect with the socio cultural economic political environmental and industrial change that is taking place in the region By doing so the book provides a theoretically engaged analysis of the social transformations and discourses that shape our contemporary understanding of tourism development within the GCC region Moreover it deciphers tourism development's role within the context of the GCC states undergoing rapid transformation urbanization ultra modernization internationalization and globalization In addition to state specific illustrations and destination case studies the work provides insights into relatable themes associated with international tourism development in the region such as tourism's relationship with religion heritage and identity the environment and sustainability mobility and cross border movements the transport industry image production and destination branding mega development and political stability and instability The book combines theory with diverse case study illustrations drawing on disciplinary knowledge from such fields as sociology political economy and social geography This timely and original contribution is essential reading for students researchers and academics in the field of tourism studies and related subject areas along with those who have regional interests in Middle East studies including Gulf and Arabian Peninsula studies Tourism Resilience and Adaptation to Environmental Change Alan A. Lew, Joseph M. Cheer, 2017-07-31 In recent years resilience theory has come to occupy the core of our understanding and management of the adaptive capacity of people and places in complex social and environmental systems Despite this tourism scholars have been slow to adopt resilience concepts at a time when the emergence of new frameworks and applications is pressing Drawing on original empirical and theoretical insights in resilience thinking this book explores how tourism communities and economies respond to environmental changes both fast natural hazard disasters and slow incremental shifts It explores how tourism places adapt change and sometimes transform or not in relation to their environmental context with an awareness of intersection with societal dynamics and links to political economic and social drivers of change Contributions draw on empirical research conducted in a range of international settings including indigenous communities to explore the complexity and gradations of environmental change encounters and resilience planning responses in a range of tourism contexts As the first book to specifically focus on environmental change from a resilience perspective this timely and original work makes a critical contribution to tourism studies tourism management and environmental geography as well as environmental sciences and development studies

Tourism and War Richard Butler, Wantanee Suntikul, 2013-05-07 This is the first volume to fully explore the complex relationship between war and tourism by considering its full range of dynamics including political psychological economic and ideological factors at different levels in different political and geographical locations Issues of peace and tourism are dealt with insofar as they pertain to the effects of war on tourism that emerge after the cessation of hostilities The book therefore reveals how not only location but also political strategies accidents of history transportation linkages and economic expediency all have played their role in the development and continuation of tourism before during and after wartime It further shows how the effects of war are seldom if ever simply a negation or reversal of the effects of peace on tourism The volume draws on a range of examples from medieval times to the present to reveal the multi faceted development of tourism amidst and because of conflict in a wide variety of locations including the Pacific Europe the Middle East North America Africa and South East Asia showing the diverse ways in which tourism and war interacts In doing so it explores how some locations have been developed as tourist attractions primarily because of war and conflict e g as resting and training places for troops and others flourished because of the threat of danger from conflicts to more traditional tourist locations This thought provoking volume contributes to the understanding of the interrelationships between war peace and tourism in many different parts of the world at different scales It will be valuable reading for all those interested in this topic as well as dark tourism battlefield tourism and heritage tourism

Cultural Heritage and Tourism in Africa Dallen J. Timothy, 2023-03-13 Cultural Heritage and Tourism in Africa examines the multiple and diverse manifestations of cultural heritage based tourism in Africa from a regional social science and sustainability perspective This book delivers a comprehensive treatise on the interdependent concepts of cultural heritage and tourism Heritage is one of the most pervasive tourism assets worldwide and lies at the foundations of tourism in many localities including Africa However despite its salience there has not been a systematic examination of Africa's heritage resources markets policies practices successes and challenges in a tourism framework despite the continent's immense heritage value. This book reviews the different types of heritages that pervade the cultural environment of Africa and comprises its vast heritagescapes. It also examines the increasing potential for the growth of heritage tourism throughout the entire continent. The contributions in this volume delve into current thinking about space and place and their effects on heritage mobilities, globalization, colonialism and indigeneity, conflict, identity and nation building, connections with other regions through migration and the slave trade and a greater emphasis on the ordinary heritage of Africa which has long been ignored by tourism scholars and industry representatives. The chapters herein are authored by Africa specialists, most being from Africa, offering a truly African perspective. The chapters are conceptually rigorous and empirically rich with examples from all regions of the African continent. This unparalleled interdisciplinary glimpse at cultural heritage and tourism in Africa delivers strong value and is a vital resource for all students and researchers of tourism, cultural studies, heritage studies, geography, anthropology, sociology, history and global studies.

Tourism Geography Stephen Williams, 2014-09-16. Tourism Geography develops a critical understanding of how different geographies of tourism are created and maintained. Drawing on both historical and contemporary perspectives, the discussion connects tourism to key geographical concepts relating to globalization, mobility, new geographies of production and consumption and post industrial change. The new edition has been fully updated to have an international focus with global case studies and broader based content. Connections, Mobilities, Urban Prospects and Environmental Threats Louis F. Cassar, Annick Douguédroit, Theano S. Terkenli, 2015-09-10. This volume provides specialized insights into selected Mediterranean geographies such as information communication technologies, tourism, urbanization and climate change threats with a focus on emerging and often overlooked issues in light of the impact of current trends of globalization and the financial crisis in the broader context of contemporary world processes of environmental change and accelerated human mobility. Specifically, the book contains sections on emergent and increasingly significant or highly innovative issues specific to the Mediterranean, often providing alternative perspectives on various pressing issues such as the northward shift of climatic types, littoralisation processes and urbanization trends, tourism growth problems, human exposure to environmental stresses and the boom in information communication technologies. As such, this book provides new insights into a region that has absorbed the sustained impact of human growth in precarious environments, often at the interface of many worlds co-existing at various states of development and inter-scalar or cross-border interrelationships. This volume does not cover every aspect of the human and physical geographies of the Mediterranean region but rather addresses contemporary issues of increasing significance to the Mediterranean with an emphasis on emergent and pressing issues as well as new perspectives or methods of approach of special relevance to the Mediterranean. The core of contributions to this volume originated from an initiative undertaken by the International Geographical Union (IGU) Mediterranean Renaissance Program, now the Commission on the Mediterranean Basin (COMB). Most papers are authored by members of the latter Commission and additional papers are included in order to cover more aspects of contemporary Mediterranean geographies Mobilities and Hospitable Cities Ezio Marra,Marxiano Melotti,2018-04-18 Urban life and mobility have been greatly affected by globalization and postmodernization This international collection of essays investigates a number of significant issues in urban research including urban governance city branding and commodification urban fears and safety and the conservation of the urban ecosystem Also explored are the changing lifestyles in the urban environment the increasing importance of tourism in the economy of metropolitan areas and the interdependence of tourism cultural heritage and local communities The volume offers a range of case studies exploring New York Orlando Paris Barcelona Lisbon Venice and the imitations of the latter in Boston Los Angeles Las Vegas and various Chinese towns A specific section is devoted to other Italian cities such as Rome Florence Naples and Turin It also provides an appendix detailing the success story of tourism degree programmes in European universities The book is dedicated to the memory of Guido Martinotti a leading Italian scholar widely known for his seminal contributions to urban sociology Geographies of Transport and Mobility Stewart Barr,Jan Prillwitz,Tim Ryley,Gareth Shaw,2017-10-04 Geographies of Transport and Mobility aims to provide a comprehensive and evidenced account of the intellectual and pragmatic challenges for personal mobility in the twenty first century In doing so it argues that geographers have a key role to play in shaping academic and policy debates on how personal mobility can become more sustainable The book is structured in three parts Part I explores how personal mobility has evolved since the mid nineteenth century plotting the intricate relationship between new forms of mobile technology urban planning and design and social practices Part II examines how researchers study transport and mobility and outlines the different intellectual trajectories of transport geography and geographies of mobilities Part III then outlines and discusses the discourse of sustainable mobility that has emerged in recent years the ways in which social economic and environmental sustainability can be promoted through different strategies focusing on behavioural change and urban design Geographies of Transport and Mobility provides a unique perspective on personal mobility by demonstrating how the way we travel has developed through complex economic and social processes It argues that this historical context is critical for considering how mobility in the twenty first century can be more sustainable not just environmentally but also economically and socially As such it argues for a renewed focus on sustainable place making as a way to radically shift mobility practices Geographies of Transport and Mobility is designed to appeal to advanced level undergraduate students and researchers in the fields of geography anthropology psychology sociology and transport studies Understanding and Governing Sustainable Tourism Mobility Scott A. Cohen,James E.S. Higham,Gossling Stefan,Paul Peeters,2014-03-26 Despite a growing contribution to climate change tourist and traveller behaviour is currently not acknowledged as an important sector within the development of climate policy Whilst tourists may be increasingly aware of potential impacts on climate change there is evidence that most are unwilling to modify their actual behaviours Influencing individual behaviour in tourism and informing effective governance is therefore an essential part of climate change mitigation This significant volume is the first to explore the psychological and social factors that may contribute to and inhibit sustainable change in the context of tourist and traveller behaviour It draws on a range of disciplines to offer a critical review of the psychological understandings and behavioural aspects of climate change and tourism mobilities in addition to governance and policies based upon psychological behavioural and social mechanisms It therefore provides a more informed understanding of how technology infrastructure and cost distribution can be developed in order to reach stronger mitigation goals whilst ensuring that resistance from consumers for socio psychological reasons are minimized Written by leading academics from a range of disciplinary backgrounds and regions this ground breaking volume is essential reading for all those interested in the effective governance of tourism s contribution to climate change now and in the future
