Worlds Fairs On The Eve Of War Science Technology And Modernity 1937 194:

World's Fairs on the Eve of War Robert H. Kargon, Karen Fiss, Morris Fraser Low, Arthur P. Molella, 2015-11-11 Since the first world's fair in London in 1851 at the dawn of the era of industrialization international expositions served as ideal platforms for rival nations to showcase their advancements in design architecture science and technology industry and politics Before the outbreak of World War II countries competing for leadership on the world stage waged a different kind of war with cultural achievements and propaganda appealing to their own national strengths and versions of modernity in the struggle for power World's Fairs on the Eve of War examines five fairs and expositions from across the globe including three that were staged Paris 1937 Dusseldorf 1937 and New York 1939 40 and two that were in development before the war began but never executed Tokyo 1940 and Rome 1942 This coauthored work considers representations of science and technology at world's fairs as influential cultural forces and at a critical moment in history when tensions and ideological divisions between political regimes would soon lead to war

Predatory Data Anita Say Chan, 2025-01-07 The first book to draw a direct line between the datafication and prediction techniques of past eugenicists and today's often violent and extractive big data regimes Predatory Data illuminates the throughline between the nineteenth century's anti immigration and eugenics movements and our sprawling systems of techno surveillance and algorithmic discrimination With this book Anita Say Chan offers a historical globally multisited analysis of the relations of dispossession misrecognition and segregation expanded by dominant knowledge institutions in the Age of Big Data While technological advancement has a tendency to feel inevitable it always has a history including efforts to chart a path for alternative futures and the important parallel story of defiant refusal and liberatory activism Chan explores how more than a century ago feminist immigrant and other minoritized actors refused dominant institutional research norms and worked to develop alternative data practices whose methods and traditions continue to reverberate through global justice based data initiatives today Looking to the past to shape our future this book charts a path for an alternative historical consciousness grounded in the pursuit of global justice A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more
