Worst Of Days Inside The Black Saturday Firestorm:

Worst of Days Karen Kissane (Aus),2010-11-01 Saturday 7 February 2009 Truly the worst of days From dawn the bush was tinder dry and hot winds grew and fed off the baked landscape sucking out every last drop of moisture whipping sparks from power lines and stirring up menace and danger WORST OF DAYS is the behind the scenes story of the people who were inside Black Saturday s most deadly firestorm the Kilmore blaze It is a powerful and gripping narrative of disaster and resilience of men and women and children facing the ultimate stress This is the story of what we do at the very worst of times from the man who braved the flames to help a mate to another who refused even to cover the face of a dead man saying No mate not my job It is the story of officials bungles and best efforts towns and their heroes of survivors saviours and lost souls

Evacuation Peter Adey,2024-08-16 Peter Adey examines the politics aesthetics and practice of evacuating people and animals from harm during emergencies showing how it reveals reinforces and relies on structures of power Gender and Wildfire Christine Eriksen,2013-11-20 In pursuit of lifestyle change affordable property and proximity to nature people from all walks of life are moving to the wildland urban interface Tragic wildfires and a predicted increase in high fire danger weather with climate change have triggered concern for the safety of such amenity led migrants in wildfire prone landscapes This book examines wildfire awareness and preparedness amongst women men households communities and agencies at the interface between city and beyond It does so through an examination of two regions where wildfires are common and disastrous and where how to deal with them is a major political issue southeast Australia and the west coast United States It follows women s and men s stories of surviving fighting evacuating living and working with wildfire to reveal the intimate inner workings of wildfire response and especially the culturally and historically distinct gender relations that underpin wildfire resilience Wildfire is revealed as much more than a natural hazard it is far from gender neutral Rather wildfire is an important means through which traditional gender roles and power relations are maintained despite changing social circumstances Women s and men s subjectivities are shaped by varying senses of inclusion exclusion engagement and disengagement with wildfire management This leads to the reproduction of gender identities with clear ramifications for if how and to what extent women and men prepare for wildfire Living with Fire Tom Griffiths,Christine

Hansen,2012-11-12 Within the Yarra River catchment area nestles the valley of Steels Creek a small shallow basin in the lee of Kinglake plateau and the Great Dividing Range The escarpment walls of the range drop in a series of ridges to the valley and form the south eastern boundary of the Kinglake National Park The gentle undulations that flow out from the valley stretch into the productive and picturesque landscape of Victoria s famous wine growing district the Yarra Valley Late on the afternoon of 7 February 2009 the day that came to be known as Black Saturday the Kinglake plateau carried a massive conflagration down the fringing ranges into the Steels Creek community Ten people perished and 67 dwellings were razed in the firestorm In the wake of the fires the devastated residents of the valley began the long task of grieving repairing rebuilding or moving on while redefining themselves and their community In Living with Fire historians Tom Griffiths and Christine Hansen trace both the history of fire in the region and the human history of the Steels Creek valley in a series of essays which examine the relationship between people and place These essays are interspersed with four interludes compiled from material produced by the community In the immediate aftermath of the fire many people sought to express their grief shock sadness and relief in artwork Some painted or wrote poetry while others collected the burnt remains of past treasures from which they made new objects These expressions supplemented by historical archives and the essays they stand beside offer a sensory and holistic window into the community s contemporary and historical experiences A deeply moving book Living with Fire brings to life the stories of one community s experience with fire offering a way to understand the past and in doing so prepare for the future

Spontaneous Venturing Dean A. Shepherd,Trenton A. Williams,2022-11-01 Identifying a new approach to disaster response spontaneous compassionate and impromptu actions to alleviate suffering In Spontaneous Venturing Dean Shepherd and Trenton Williams identify and describe a new approach for responding to disaster and suffering the local organizing of spontaneous compassionate and impromptu actions the rapid emergence of a compassionate venture This approach termed by the authors spontaneous venturing can be more effective than the traditional command and control methods of large disaster relief organizations It can customize and target resources and deliver them quickly helping victims almost immediately For example during the catastrophic 2009 bushfires in Victoria Australia the focal disaster for the book residents organized an impromptu relief center that collected and distributed urgently needed goods without red tape Special bonds and friendships formed among the volunteers and victims some were both volunteer and victim Many victims were able to mobilize resources despite considerable personal losses Shepherd and Williams describe the lasting impact of disaster and tell the stories of Victoria residents who organized in the aftermath of the bushfires They consider the limitations of traditional disaster relief efforts and explain that when victims take action to help others they develop behavioral emotional and assumptive resilience venturing leads to social interaction community connections and other positive outcomes Finally they explore spontaneous venturing in a less developed country investigating the activities of Haitians after the devastating 2010 earthquake The lesson for communities hit by disaster find opportunities for compassionate action

Resources Law Catherine Banet,Hanri Mostert,LeRoy Paddock,Milton Fernando Montoya,Iñigo del Guayo,2022-03-11 The number of severe and sometimes catastrophic disruptive events has been rapidly increasing Extreme weather events including floods wildfires hurricanes and other natural disasters have become both more frequent and more severe whilst events such as the COVID 19 pandemic represent a global threat to public health with huge economic effects that recovery packages tried to address These disruptive events alone and in combination have dramatic consequences on nature human life and the economy calling for urgent action to mitigate their causes and adapt to their impacts In response to discourses of collapsology and end of growth theories this monograph offers an analytical approach to developing legal responses that can help ensure the needs of present and future generations can be met through energy systems infrastructure development and natural resources management in these times of disruption Resilience is therefore seen as a common framework for the interpretation and development of energy infrastructure and natural resources law With a mix of thematic chapters and case studies from multiple jurisdictions Resilience in Energy Infrastructure and Natural Resources Law maps and assesses legal responses to disruptive nature based events and examines possible legal pathways for more sustainable outcomes based on its engagement with this concept of resilience and social ecological thinking Gender and Climate Change Joane Nagel,2025-08-05 Does gender matter in global climate change This timely and provocative book takes readers on a guided tour of basic climate science then holds up a gender lens to find out what has been overlooked in popular discussion research and policy debates We see that around the world more women than men die in climate related natural disasters the history of science and war are intimately interwoven masculine occupations and preoccupations and conservative men and their interests drive the climate change denial machine We also see that climate policymakers who embrace big science approaches and solutions to climate change are predominantly male with an ideology of perpetual economic growth and an agenda that marginalizes the interests of women and developing economies The book uses vivid case studies to highlight the often surprising gendered impacts of climate changes This new edition is a thorough update that includes revised and new chapters and new material that takes account of the significant advances in climate research environmental and social theory and the many political and social challenges posed in the wake of US elections Covid 19 pandemic and rapidly changing climate and environment The new edition also takes account of important social and cultural movements that resist challenges to women s rights and advocate for gender sexuality and racial justice This book will appeal to students researchers and academicians interested in environmental studies and gender studies It also will be of interest to policymakers activists and others involved with environmental policy and governance
