Literary Journalism in the Twentieth Century Norman Sims, 1990. This book offers a forum for discussion involving the reader in what becomes an active definition of literary journalism. Lively and readable, it also concerns the very essence of literature itself, showing how writers have reshaped styles to permit passages across the borders between fact and fiction in the process of investigating what these borders might be and if they exist at all.

Letters of Marshall McLuhan Marshall McLuhan, 1987. Called an oracle and sage, the involuntary founder of an unofficial cult, Marshall McLuhan (1911-80) was one of the most famous men of the 1960s, from whose name a French word, mcluhanisme, was coined. His reputation as a communications theorist was established by two of his many books: The Gutenberg Galaxy: The Making of Typographic Man (1962) explains how society and human psychology were changed when pre-literate oral culture was supplanted by the invention of the phonetic alphabet and a manuscript culture gave way to the Gutenberg era of movable type, the printing press, and mass-produced books; Understanding Media: The Extensions of Man (1964), McLuhan's most widely read book, explores the next development, the electronic age, and its effects on individuals and society. The early letters in this collection offer a fascinating background to McLuhan's intellectual growth; the bulk of them, however, contain many interesting discussions of ideas that later became subjects in his books. His correspondents include some of the best-known names of the sixties and seventies and range from Woody Allen to Tom Wolfe. Heavily annotated, the letters are arranged in three sections, each with a period introduction. 1931-1936 takes McLuhan through the University of Manitoba and Cambridge University; 1936-1946 covers one year's teaching at the University of Wisconsin, two years at Saint Louis University, one year with his bride at Cambridge for work on his Ph.D., four more years at Saint Louis, and two years at Assumption College, Windsor, Ontario. These letters include a large correspondence with Wyndham Lewis. The last section begins in 1946 when McLuhan went to the University of Toronto. Two years later he began a long correspondence with Ezra Pound. Covering the period of McLuhan's fame, it ends in September 1979 with a letter to Pierre Elliott Trudeau, written shortly before McLuhan had a stroke that rendered him speechless. These letters have been selected from a large collection now in the Public Archives of Canada, assembled by Corinne McLuhan, McLuhan's widow, and Matie Molinaro, his literary agent.
