

Coral Reefs_ Formation, Threats, and Protection

READING COMPREHENSION

Passage 1
The Great Barrier Reef is the world's largest coral reef system, composed of over 2,900 individual reefs and 600 islands stretching for over 2,000 kilometers off the northeastern coast of Australia.

Passage 2
Coral reefs are formed by the accumulation of calcium carbonate skeletons of coral polyps. These polyps are small, soft-bodied organisms that live in colonies and secrete their skeletons over time.

Passage 3
Coral reefs are vital ecosystems that provide habitat for a wide variety of marine life, including fish, invertebrates, and other organisms. They also play a crucial role in protecting coastlines from erosion and storm damage.

Passage 4
However, coral reefs are facing significant threats from human activities, including climate change, ocean acidification, and overfishing. These threats can lead to the degradation and eventual collapse of the reef ecosystem.
