Fabricating Religion Russell T. McCutcheon, 2018-09-24 The revised essays collected here four of which are published for the first time continue a longstanding argument made by McCutcheon and others that the study of religion would benefit from self-conscious scrutiny of its tools the interests that may drive them and the effects that might follow their use The chapters examine a variety of contemporary sites in the modern field where this thesis can be argued whether involving the anachronistic use of the category religion when studying the ancient world to current interest in so-called critical religion or critical realist approaches Moreover contrary to some past characterizations of such critiques a constructive way forward for the field is once again recommended and at several sites exemplified in detail redescribing not only religion as something ordinary but also our tendency to create the impression of exceptional and thus set apart things places and people Aimed at scholars and students alike the book is an invitation to examine our own scholarly practices and thereby take a more active role in shaping the field in which we carry out our work as scholars of this thing we call religion Religion, Crime and

Punishment Russil Durrant, Zoe Poppelwell, 2017-10-17 This book provides a critical discussion of the way in which religion influences criminal and antisocial behaviour punishment and the law intergroup conflict and peace making and the rehabilitation of offenders The authors argue that in order to understand how religion is related to each of these domains it is essential to recognise the evolutionary origins of religion as well as how genetic and cultural evolutionary processes have shaped its essential characteristics Durrant and Poppelwell posit that the capacity of religion to bind individuals into socially cohesive moral communities can help us to understand its complex relationship with cooperation crime punishment intergroup conflict and forgiveness An original and innovative study this book will be of special interest to criminologists and other social scientists interested in the role of religion in crime punishment intergroup conflict and law Religion: A Clinical Guide for Nurses Elizabeth Johnston Taylor, 2012-03-07 Named a 2012 PROSE Award Honorable Mention in the Nursing views on health and suffering explanations for disease beliefs and practices related to birthing childrearing and dying healing rituals corporate religious resources for the sick and more Prefacing this information are chapters discussing

Benjamin K. Akih, 2025-05-06 This book offers a conceptual analysis of reason proposing a plausible theory to resolve persistent vagueness in the historical use of the concept The proposed theory leads to the view that reason is fundamentally subjective and dependent on non inferential matters of faith Despite the inherent subjectivity we can arrive at a consensus in reasoning exercises because we all participate in a universal minimum religion that grounds all reasoning True atheism is therefore impossible This analysis bears on debates about the relation between faith and reason as well as the relation between ethics based on reason and ethics based on sentiments The book further shows that this new and original view of religiously constrained reason ought to equally inform our thinking about applied ethics such as politics law and economics

The World of the Axial Sages John C. Stephens, 2020-11-25 This book presents an engaging analysis of the global spiritual changes of the first millennium BCE Between the sixth and fourth centuries BCE several new revolutionary religious and philosophic movements were born throughout the world Rather than using the well known label Axial Age to refer to this time of religious change the book argues that a better choice would be the Age of Awakening since it places more emphasis upon the personal internal dimension of religious experience lying at the core of these developments Earthshattering spiritual encounters with the sacred led the prophets and sages of the Age of Awakening to redirect people's attention away from the stagnant traditions of the past towards new forms of dynamic spirituality The era saw the emergence of a variety of innovative spiritual pathways in both the eastern and western worlds In classical Greece Pythagoras and Plato proposed new spiritual and intellectual alternatives to the outdated religious myths and rituals of the polis The Middle East also played a significant role in the spiritual revolution of the first millennium BCE As early as the sixth century BCE the Persian prophet Zoroaster's revelatory visions about the Truth and the Lie led to the birth of a new religious movement known as Zoroastrianism At the time of the Babylonian Exile ancient Judaism underwent a process of radical spiritual renewal largely due to the inspired teachings of the Hebrew prophets In India the writers of the Upanishads provided a spiritual reinterpretation of many of the old Vedic myths and rituals Sages including the Buddha and Mahavira rejected the old sacrificial system of the brahmins and asserted that liberation from the cycle of birth and death could only be found through the practice of asceticism and a general withdrawal from the illusory material world As such this book highlights the importance of the de stabilizing influences of religious experience for understanding the revolutionary spiritual developments of the first millennium BCE

Religion, Pacifism, and Nonviolence James Kellenberger, 2018-08-27 This book is about religion pacifism and the nonviolence that informs pacifism in its most coherent form Pacifism is one religious approach to war and violence Another is embodied in just war theories and both pacifism and just war thinking are critically examined Although moral support for pacifism is presented a main focus of the book is on religious support for pacifism found in various religious traditions A crucial distinction for pacifism is that between force and violence Pacifism informed by nonviolence excludes violence but the book argues allows forms of force Peacekeeping is an activity that on the face of it seems compatible with pacifism and several different forms of peacekeeping are examined The implications of nonviolence for the treatment of nonhuman animals are also examined Two models for attaining the conditions required for a world without war have been proposed Both are treated and one the model of a biological human family is developed The book concludes with reflections on the role of pacifism in each of five possible futurescapes

Critics Not Caretakers Russell T. McCutcheon, 2023-11-30 The essays collected together in Critics Not Caretakers argue that the study of religion must be rethought as an ordinary aspect of social historical existence a stance that makes the scholar of religion a critic of cultural and historical practices rather than a caretaker of religious tradition or a font of timeless wisdom and deep meaning The book begins with several essays that outline the basis of an alternative sociorhetorical approach to studying religion before moving on to a series of discrete dispatches from the ongoing theory wars each of which uses the work of such writers as Karen Armstrong Walter Burkert Benson Saler and Jacob Neusner as a point of entry into wider theoretical issues of importance to the field s future The author then examines the socio political role of this brand of critical scholarship a role that differs dramatically from the type of sympathetic caretaking generally associated with scholars of religion who feel compelled to go public Concluding the work is a consideration of how scholars as teachers can address issues of theory method and critical thinking in a variety of undergraduate classrooms the location where they have always been publicly accountable intellectuals The new edition of this still read and for some controversial book preserves the original essays but includes a new opening chapter and new introductory commentaries across all of the chapters to demonstrate how little the field has changed since the volume was first published in 2001 Accordingly the book continues to provide a viable alternative for those wanting to take a more critical approach to the study of religion

Repair My House Michael H. Crosby, 2012 Repair my house From a crucifix in a ruined chapel St Francis heard this instruction which set him on a mission of evangelical renewal In the light of unprecedented crisis afflicting the Catholic church Michael Crosby calls us all to undertake a wholesale project of repair and renewal The crisis is visible in the sex abuse scandal and the questions it has raised about internal structures of authority and clerical culture Meanwhile a spate of new atheists has challenged traditional worldviews The percentage of those identifying themselves as former Catholics grows at an alarming rate In response Fr Crosby sees a challenge to return to the core evangelical message of Jesus Christ This message is supported not contradicted by discoveries in science and cosmology He envisions a new way of being Catholic and a set of practices that draws on the contemplative compassionate and life giving spirit of the Kingdom that God s will may be realized on earth as it is in heaven

Comparing Faithfully Michelle Voss, 2016-09-01 Every generation of theologians must respond to its context by rearticulating the central tenets of the faith Interreligious comparison has been integral to this process from the start of the Christian tradition and is especially salient today The emerging field of comparative theology in which close study of another religious tradition yields new questions and categories for theological reflection in the scholar s home tradition embodies the ecumenical spirit of this moment This discipline has the potential to enrich systematic theology and by extension theological education at its foundations The essays in Comparing Faithfully demonstrate that engagement with religious diversity need not be an afterthought in the study of Christian systematic theology rather it can be a way into systematic theological thinking Each section invites students to test theological categories to consider Christian doctrine in relation to specific comparisons and to take up comparative study in their own contexts This resource for pastors and theology students reconsiders five central doctrines of the Christian faith in light of focused interreligious investigations The dialogical format of the book builds conversation about the doctrine of God theodicy humanity Christology and soteriology Its comparative essays span examples from Hindu Buddhist Jewish Muslim Jain and Confucian traditions as well as indigenous Aztec theology and contemporary spiritual but not religious thought to offer exciting new perspectives on Christian doctrine
