Women offenders Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Justice Committee, 2013-07-15 Government plans to introduce payment by results in probation services need to be redesigned in respect of women offenders who are often classified as presenting a lower risk of reoffending so that they receive the intensive tailored support they need The Government's strategic priorities for women offenders lack substance and in particular must take a broader approach to supporting women at risk of reoffending and addressing the inter generational nature of crime The Committee welcomes the Government's extension of through the gate statutory support to prisoners sentenced to less than 12 months likely to benefit many women offenders However potential providers of rehabilitative services need to recognise that levels of risk posed by women may not reflect the level of support such women require Although progress has been made since the Corston recommendations a number of concerns remain the women's prison population has not fallen sufficiently fast over half of women offenders continue to receive ineffective short custodial sentences mental health and substance misuse treatment which could reduce use of custody remains unavailable to Courts in sufficient volume Maintaining a network of women s centres and using residential alternatives to custody are likely to be more effective and cheaper in the long run than short custodial sentences The Committee does not recommend substantive changes to the overall sentencing framework but argues instead for more emphasis to be placed on ensuring courts are provided with robust alternatives to custody specifically appropriate to women Working with Sex Offenders in Prisons and Through Release to the Community Alec P. Spencer,1999 Victims pornography case study staff training behaviour programme rape pedophile Working with Sex Offenders in Prisons and through Release to the Community Alec Spencer,1999-06-01 This book looks at a wide range of issues and problems relating to the management of sexual offenders in prisons and their reintegration into the community Issues involved in the setting up of programmes the creation of the right environment and the support and training of staff are universally applicable Therapeutic Community for Women Prisoners Elaine Player,Elaine Genders,2025-09-02 Based upon an extensive empirical study of a democratic therapeutic community for women serving long and medium sentences this book explores the opportunities it provided for restorative rehabilitation In so doing it identifies some of the interconnected ways in which these ambitions are undermined by pervasive yet often tacit assumptions that underly penal policies and practices Drawing on a wealth of data gathered from a study spanning a period of eighteen years at the only democratic therapeutic community for women prisoners in the UK the book highlights how feminist criminology has revealed an invidious history of women s treatment in prison demonstrating how reformist and rehabilitative interventions have reproduced and exacerbated existing states of inequality and oppression Consequently the question explored in this book is whether a proportionate sentence that imposes a loss of liberty is inevitably destined to this fate or whether it can be constructed in ways that are progressive and transformative By identifying and understanding some of the interconnected ways in which progressive efforts have typically been undermined it opens a debate about the insinuation of certain often unspoken assumptions that underly penal policies and practices and the need for their deconstruction It opens an axiomatic debate about how women imprisoned for serious offences might have that loss of liberty interpreted to facilitate a restorative reparative and reintegrative process of rehabilitation informed by principles of social justice This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of criminology feminist studies public policy and human rights It will also be of value to policymakers and practitioners in women s prisons and psychologists and psychiatrists interested in therapeutic communities Women and Work United States.
