Tiny Sunbirds, Far Away Christie Watson, 2012-10-01 A Gift from Darkness Andrea Claudia Hoffmann, Patience Ibrahim, 2018-01-23 An NPR Best Book of the Year A powerful testimony to resilience and survival Kirkus Reviews A widowed Nigerian women shares her shocking inspirational account of what she endured to save her unborn child while kidnapped by Boko Haram When she was 19

Patience Ibrahim's first husband was murdered by Boko Haram the Islamic fundamentalist terrorist organization based in West Africa. She fled to the safety of her village and remarried several months later. Having prayed for a child for years, Patience is overjoyed when she discovers she is pregnant. But her joy is short-lived. Boko Haram soldiers are at her door. Brutally abducted and forced to convert to Islam, she lives in constant terror of what her kidnappers have in store for her. She finds herself alone in the world and fears her life is over. For 2 months, Patience hides her pregnancy while facing the brutalities meted out by Boko Haram. By the sheer force of her determination to protect her baby, she and her child escape. Now she has entrusted journalist Andrea C Hoffmann with her story, a powerful first person account of Boko Haram's atrocities in Nigeria and Cameroon. A gripping testimony of the terrorist group's war crimes in Western Africa. A Gift from Darkness poignantly shows the human toll of a crisis that demands attention. Fresh Ecocritical Voices in African Literatures and Cultures Chinonye Ekwueme-Ugwu, Joyce Onoromhenre Agofure, Nsah Mala, 2025-10-13. This edited volume brings together fresh voices both emerging and established on the ecocritical landscape within African literatures and cultures. In the era of the Anthropocene, the editors and contributors demonstrate how African cultural products address climate and ecological concerns including activism, animal and plant conservation, climate change, environmental degradation, food security, disasters, ecosystems, and social injustice. The volume offers critical and comparative analyses that transcend the boundaries of languages, places, and textual genres. Significantly, it foregrounds the intersectionality of ecological issues with social, economic, and political dimensions. By doing so, it highlights how environmental challenges are intricately linked to questions of identity, space, justice, and indigenous knowledge systems. While espousing classical textual analysis and beginning to gesture towards empirical experimentation, the volume exemplifies ongoing decolonial and postcolonial approaches in environmental humanities from the African continent and the Global South. Majority Harper's, 2010.
