Davis and Paula Ladden came into the Herald office last Friday and after they had introduced themselves, said, "We are from Canton, Connecticut. The radio was on vacation and had been traveling from Los Angeles, California, had been stopped in El Paso, and were on their way to Columbia, Georgia, to visit friends when they noticed the Canton exits on the highway."

Mr. and Mrs. Ladden decided to see what a Canton, Texas was like, so they visited our Van Zandt County courthouse, city hall, and there said they were impressed with the town square.

After a few questions about First Monday, Mr. Ladden said he had an appointment at the city hall, declaring "It will be unlawful to sell or trade within the city limits of Canton, Tex., etc." (He planned to talk there, up some telephone poles in a downtown Canton, Conn., neighborhood, Wednesday, 5:00).

The Laddens stated that they would like to come back and bring their son Gilbert, 12, and their daughter Allison, 7, to see our Fair City.

Paul and Pauline, there are still a lot of nice people in the world, especially if they are from Canton, Connecticut. After all, there are twenty Cantons in the USA, and there's even one in China, wherever that is.

The Commissioners declared the official vote as follows: Bethel for consolidation 985, against 139. Athens for consolidation 282, against 30. The issue was defeated and passed in both districts and the school districts were declared consolidated.

Meeting with the commissioners were Charlie Felde, president of the Athens ISD, James Kottler, athletes, and Joe-Hay Fowler, Boardman County Clerk.

During the meeting of Bethel voters this year was the majority of the Bethel School Board for consolidation with the Texas Education Agency. The school board had some problems over the years, the first of which was the controversial dismissal of school principal William Snyder last May. When this controversy was eventually resolved, an investigation of Snyder revealed to Texas Education Agency officials several instances of impropriety.

TEA officials said attendance figures that were not signed by the principals, poor test scores, and inappropriate certification of at least one
