Time Maps Collective Memory And The Social Shape Of The Past:

Time Maps Eviatar Zerubavel, 2004-11 As Eviatar Zerubavel demonstrates in Time Maps we cannot answer questions such as these without a deeper understanding of how we envision the past In a pioneering attempt to map the structure of our collective memory Zerubavel considers the cognitive patterns we use to organize the past in our minds and the mental strategies that help us string together unrelated events into coherent and meaningful narratives as well as the social grammar of battles over conflicting interpretations of history Drawing on fascinating examples that range from Hiroshima to the Holocaust from Columbus to Lucy and from ancient Egypt to the former Yugoslavia Zerubavel shows how we construct historical origins how we tie discontinuous events together into stories how we link families and entire nations through genealogies and how we separate distinct historical periods from one another through watersheds such as the invention of fire or the fall of the Berlin Wall Time Maps Eviatar Zerubavel, 2004 Time Maps Eviatar Zerubavel, 2003 Book Review: Time Maps: Collective Memory and the Social Shape of the Past Tomaz Zerubaveled, 2005 History and Collective Memory in South Asia, 1200-2000 Sumit Guha, 2019-11-04 In this far ranging and erudite exploration of the South Asian past Sumit Guha discusses the shaping of social and historical memory in world historical context He presents memory as the result of both remembering and forgetting and of the preservation recovery and decay of records By describing how these processes work through sociopolitical organizations Guha delineates the historiographic legacy acquired by the British in colonial India the creation of the centralized educational system and mass production of textbooks that led to unification of historical discourses under colonial auspices and the divergence of these discourses in the twentieth century under the impact of nationalism and decolonization Guha brings together sources from a range of languages and regions to provide the first intellectual history of the ways in which socially recognized historical memory has been made across the subcontinent This thoughtful study contributes to debates beyond the field of history that complicate the understanding of objectivity and documentation in a seemingly post truth world Social Memory and Social Identity in the Study of Early Judaism and Early Christianity Samuel Byrskog, Raimo Hakola, Jutta Maria Jokiranta, 2016-09-12 The concepts of social memory and social identity have been increasingly used in the study of ancient Jewish and Christian sources In this collection of articles international specialists apply interdisciplinary methodology related to these concepts to early Jewish and Christian sources The volume offers an up to date presentation of how social memory studies and socio psychological identity approach have been used in the study of Biblical and related literature The articles examine how Jewish and Christian sources participate in the processes of collective recollection and in this way contribute to the construction of distinctive social identities The writers demonstrate the benefits of the use of interdisciplinary methodologies in the study of early Judaism and Christianity but also discuss potential problems that have emerged when modern theories have been applied to ancient material In the first part of the book scholars apply social collective and cultural memory approaches to early Christian sources The articles discuss philosophical aspects of memory the formation of gospel traditions in the light of memory studies the role of eyewitness testimony in canonical and non canonical Christian sources and the oral delivery of New Testament writings in relation to ancient delivery practices Part two applies the social identity approach to various Dead Sea Scrolls and New Testament writings The writers analyse the role marriage deviant behaviour and wisdom traditions in the construction of identity in the Dead Sea Scrolls Other topics include forgiveness in the Gospel of Matthew the imagined community in the Gospel John the use of the past in Paul s Epistles and the relationship between the covenant and collective identity in the Epistle to the Hebrews and the First Epistle of Clement

Urgent Archives

Michelle Caswell,2021-05-19 Urgent Archives argues that archivists can and should do more to disrupt white supremacy and hetero patriarchy beyond the standard liberal archival solutions of more diverse collecting and more inclusive description Grounded in the emerging field of critical archival studies this book uncovers how dominant western archival theories and practices are oppressive by design while looking toward the the radical politics of community archives to envision new liberatory theories and practices Based on more than a decade of ethnography at community archives sites including the South Asian American Digital Archive SAADA the book explores how members of minoritized communities activate records to build solidarities across and within communities trouble linear progress narratives and disrupt cycles of oppression Caswell explores the temporal representational and material aspects of liberatory memory work arguing that archival disruptions in time and space should be neither about the past nor the future but about the liberatory affects and effects of memory work in the present Urgent Archives extends the theoretical range of critical archival studies and provides a new framework for archivists looking to transform their practices The book should also be of interest to scholars of archival studies museum studies public history memory studies gender and ethnic studies and digital humanities
