of dying patients began during his training as a surgical oncologist at Montreal's Royal Victoria Hospital in the 1960s. He established the first comprehensive clinical program for end of life care in a teaching hospital in 1975 at McGill University's Royal Victoria Hospital, thus leading the charge for palliative medicine as a new specialty. His journey included collaboration with two storied healthcare innovators: British hospice pioneer Dame Cicely Saunders and American psychiatrist Elisabeth Kubler-Ross, leading to a more fulsome understanding of the physical, psychosocial, and existential or spiritual needs of patients, their families, and their caregivers in the health care setting. This compelling narrative documents how the Royal Vic team became internationally recognized as effective advocates of quality of life at the crossroad between life and death. From meetings with Viktor Frankl, the Dalai Lama, and other teachers to a memorable telephone chat with Mother Teresa, Mount recalls with appreciation, humour, and humility the places and people that helped to shed light on this universal human experience.

Even parents with the best intentions strive to micro-manage every detail of their kids' lives and live in constant fear that their child will underperform in any area: academic, social, athletic. Lists and schedules, meetings and appointments invade our every moment, and the need to be the best dominates and undermines our own sense of self as well as our children's. In their groundbreaking new book The Over-Scheduled Child, renowned child psychiatrist Alvin Rosenfeld, M.D., and longtime family issues journalist Nicole Wise combine personal and professional experience to take action against what they see as our overeager pursuit of perfection.
