Wednesday Is Indigo Blue Discovering The Brain Of Synesthesia:

Wednesday Is Indigo Blue Richard E. Cytowic, David M. Eagleman, 2011-09-30 How the extraordinary multisensory phenomenon of synesthesia has changed our traditional view of the brain A person with synesthesia might feel the flavor of food on her fingertips sense the letter J as shimmering magenta or the number 5 as emerald green hear and taste her husband's voice as buttery golden brown Synesthetes rarely talk about their peculiar sensory gift believing either that everyone else senses the world exactly as they do or that no one else does Yet synesthesia occurs in one in twenty people and is even more common among artists One famous synesthete was novelist Vladimir Nabokov who insisted as a toddler that the colors on his wooden alphabet blocks were all wrong His mother understood exactly what he meant because she too had synesthesia Nabokov's son Dmitri who recounts this tale in the afterword to this book is also a synesthete further illustrating how synesthesia runs in families In Wednesday Is Indigo Blue pioneering researcher Richard Cytowic and distinguished neuroscientist David Eagleman explain the neuroscience and genetics behind synesthesia's multisensory experiences Because synesthesia contradicted existing theory Cytowic spent twenty years persuading colleagues that it was a real and important brain phenomenon rather than a mere curiosity Today scientists in fifteen countries are exploring synesthesia and how it is changing the traditional view of how the brain works Cytowic and Eagleman argue that perception is already multisensory though for most of us its multiple dimensions exist beyond the reach of consciousness Reality they point out is more subjective than most people realize No mere curiosity synesthesia is a window on the mind and brain highlighting the amazing differences in the way people see the world

Synesthesia Richard E. Cytowic, 2018-03-09 An accessible concise primer on the neurological trait of synesthesia vividly felt sensory couplings by a founder of the field One in twenty three people carry the genes for the synesthesia Not a disorder but a neurological trait like perfect pitch synesthesia creates vividly felt cross sensory couplings A synesthete might hear a voice and at the same time see it as a color or shape taste its distinctive flavor or feel it as a physical touch In this volume in the MIT Press Essential Knowledge series Richard Cytowic the expert who returned synesthesia to mainstream science after decades of oblivion offers a concise accessible primer on this fascinating human experience Cytowic explains that synesthesia's most frequent manifestation is seeing days of the week as colored followed by sensing letters numerals and punctuation marks in different hues even when printed in black Other manifestations include tasting food in shapes seeing music in moving colors and mapping numbers and other sequences spatially One synesthete declares Chocolate smells pink and sparkly another invents a dish chicken vanilla ice cream and orange juice concentrate that tastes intensely blue Cytowic who in the 1980s revived scientific interest in synesthesia sees it now understood as a spectrum an umbrella term that covers five clusters of outwardly felt couplings that can occur via several pathways Yet synesthetic or not each brain uniquely filters what it perceives Cytowic reminds us that each individual's perspective on the world is thoroughly subjective

Perception and Its Modalities Dustin Stokes, 2015 This volume is about the many ways we perceive Contributors explore the nature of the individual senses how and what they tell us about the world and how they interrelate The volume begins to develop better paradigms for understanding the senses and perception

Absent Jill C. Baker, 2020-04-11 Carter Sutherland is a think tank executive living near D C His world is precise and analytical his demeanor reserved Because he is partially color blind his black and white perspective is both literal and physical until he meets client Tracee Green a synesthete who sees words as colors When she offers to take him on 4 sensory rich cerebral journeys to improve his perception and emotional intelligence he readily agrees not sure what to expect What he encounters is far more astounding than he could imagine With the power of suggestion and exotic beverages Tracee guides him to pivotal eras in time where he assumes the personas of Arturo Arthur Kar and RT With each journey both sensual and gut wrenching he learns about himself and the world around him insights he applies to a camouflage project at work There s no denying that Carter is attracted to his vision guide and the feeling is mutual Tracee delights in teasing him with innuendos and temptations leaving him unsure about what is real and not One thing is certain his wife Sarah isn t thrilled with his visits to the Green Light Foundation But the storyline changes from an innocent quest of self discovery to something more ominous when Carter notices suspicious activities in the grand Victorian where he is treated Convinced their operations are a front for something else he starts to poke around Dangerous With the help of his son an investigative reporter a subplot is revealed

Networks of Mind: Learning, Culture, Neuroscience Kathy Hall, Alicia Curtin, Vanessa Rutherford, 2013-12-13 This ground breaking book is unique in bringing together two perspectives on learning sociocultural theory and neuroscience Drawing on both perspectives it foregrounds important developments in our understanding of what learning is where and how learning occurs and what we can do to understand learning as an everyday process Leading experts from both disciplines demonstrate how sociocultural ideas such as the relevance of experience opportunity to learn environment personal histories meaning participation memory and feelings of belonging align with and reflect upon new understandings emerging from neuroscience concerning plasticity and neural networks Among the themes critically examined are the following Mind and brain Culture Ability and talent Success and failure Memory Language Emotion Aimed at and accessible to a broad audience and drawing on both schools of thought Networks of Mind employs case studies vignettes and real life examples to demonstrate that though the language of sociocultural theory and that of neuroscience appear very different ultimately the concepts of both perspectives align and converge around some key ideas The book shows where both perspectives overlap collide and diverge in their assumptions and understanding of fundamental aspects of human flourishing It shows how neuroscience confirms some of the key messages already well established by sociocultural theory specifically the importance of opportunity to learn It also argues that the ascendancy of neuroscience may result in the marginalization of sociocultural science though the latter it argues has enormous explanatory power for understanding and promoting learning and for understanding how learning is afforded and constrained
