Garland, 1997-04-17 In Watching Nature naturalist Mark Garland takes readers on field trips among the plants and animals of the cool highlands of West Virginia the forested ridges and valleys of western Maryland and central Pennsylvania the gently rolling Piedmont region around Washington D C and the flat coastal plain extending from southern New Jersey to Virginia Beach Anecdotes from the author's own adventures the nocturnal sighting of a rare bird a feast of wild mountain blueberries a winter afternoon at the shore uncover the surprises that even the most familiar landscape can yield Describing seasonal events such as Potomac valley wildflowers blooming in early spring shorebirds converging on Delaware Bay mudflats in mid May and monarch butterflies migrating over mountain fields in early fall the author also provides itineraries for visiting some of his favorite spots Complete with black and white watercolor illustrations maps an extensive bibliography and listings of resource organizations Watching Nature emphasizes the accessibility of the natural world Spiritually Grounded Mary Lou Burch, Barbara Burch Callahan, 2009-03 Faked Disability A Shame of America A textbook to recognize the problem A Warning to America You cannot bring prosperity by discouraging thrift you cannot strengthen the weak by weakening the strong you cannot help the wage earner by pulling down the wage payer you cannot help the poor by destroying the rich you cannot build character and courage by taking away a man's initiative and independence and you cannot help men permanently by doing for them what they could and should do for themselves Abraham Lincoln Society becomes strained and inefficient when there are large numbers of people not working for the common good The psychological effects of malingering can be horrible It destroys an individual as a person He has fallen into a trap and has been enslaved by a generous system which is quite easy to defraud It is a rare person who under proper conditions will not accept a hand out from the government or big business There are also people who will starve to death before they will accept charity It should be made very clear that every American I know believes in giving all the aid possible to people with real disability and even more than is available Many people have the mentality of believing that they are entitled to welfare from the big government if they decide they want it The question must be asked Is it fair to society and to the patient in particular to provide him with eating bread of idleness
