The Palgrave Handbook of Global Sustainability Robert Brinkmann, 2023-04-04 The field of sustainability continues to evolve as a discipline The world is facing multiple sustainability challenges such as climate change water depletion ecosystem loss and environmental racism The Handbook of Sustainability will provide a comprehensive reference for the field that examines in depth the major themes within what are known as the three E s of sustainability environment equity and economics These three themes will serve as the main organizing body of the work In addition the work will include sections on history and sustainability major figures in the development of sustainability as a discipline and important organizations that contributed or that continue to contribute to sustainability as a field The work is explicitly global in scope as it considers the very different issues associated with sustainability in the global north and south

Social Constructions of Water Quality in South Africa Suvania Naidoo, 2022-05-04 This book details how the water quality of the Blesbokspruit River in Gauteng South Africa was socially constructed by stakeholders and key individuals in the context of acid mine drainage AMD and its treatment Social constructionism is used as the framing for this research to explain how water is intrinsically social Findings presented here show that stakeholders are aware that the changes in the physicality of the Blesbokspruit resulted from human interventions and varied uses of the water over the years Such knowledge among factors such as the historical context of mining current coal mining flows and volumes of water technology used and processes followed information and communication and vested interests influence social constructions of the water quality What counts as the truth about water varies depending on the individual s perspective their purpose and their individual interests Further how one defines water quality influences what treatment processes are preferred in order to improve water quality The book explains why for example a treatment process meant to improve water quality gained a bad reputation by the public because of the South African government s silo approach The book explains how these social constructions are entrenched in power relations between stakeholders regarding AMD treatment and illustrates how power was used to influence decisions to improve the water quality of the Blesbokspruit The case presented in this book offers insights and recommendations for policymakers working in water governance including means to influence social constructions of water quality and ways to clarify roles and responsibilities in pursuit of improved cooperative government

News and American Contract Journal, 1898 Higher Education for Diversity, Social Inclusion and Community Sjur Bergan, Ira Harkavy, 2018 How does the Council of Europe put into practice its commitment to the promotion of a culture of democracy through education Over the past decade or so our societies have been facing increasing difficulties in reconciling acceptance of diversity and social inclusion with the need for community The search for simple solutions to complex problems the fact that fake news and alternative facts are no longer seen as nonsensical expressions our responses to migration and the refugee crisis and the growth of populism in many parts of Europe present challenges to our societies and not least to education Authors from Europe North America and South Africa outline how higher education could respond to these challenges The first section makes a strong case for the continuing importance of higher education and research to modern society The second focuses on higher education institutions and the need for inclusive and diverse campuses The third section considers opportunities to improve the inclusion of refugees and immigrants in higher education Whereas the focus in Europe is mostly on refugees in the United States it is largely on immigrants further accentuated by the debate on the Dreamers Engineering News and American Railway Journal ,1898 Engineering News ,1898 The Human Face of Water Security David Devlaeminck,Zafar Adeel,Robert Sandford,2017-03-09 This volume collects essays from academics and practitioners from a diversity of areas and perspectives in order to discuss water security at various levels and to illuminate the central idea of water security its focus on the individual Beginning with the big picture this book aims to illustrate the depth of the water security crisis and its interconnections with other aspects of societal development It particularly draws a connection to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and discusses that challenges faced in meeting the 17 sustainability development goals SDG by the year 2030 Moving from international to domestic and community perspectives this book provides a unique analysis of issues and solutions to the water issues we face today in light of the ever looming global changes brought on by climate change Over the past few decades the recognition of our common need for water has increased as policymakers have sought to place more focus on the individual within policy After the recognition of water and sanitation as a fundamental human right by the United Nations General Assembly in 2010 there is increasing recognition of the individual as the building block for the struggle for water security This reality also intersects with adverse impacts of global climate change and the book responds to the broader question will clean and safe water be available where we need it and when we need it in the future Forest and Stream ,1884 Sociological Abstracts Leo P.
