Perry,2021-04-20 While some people might become pastors to offer counsel I expect that many pastors see counseling as a daunting disorienting and even dreaded part of the job It can even be scorned by some who consider this pastoral work an unnecessary distraction from leadership and mission Yet pastoral counseling is a non negotiable component of pastoral ministry that provides an excellent opportunity to display the love of Christ Kairos Care teaches a theologically sensitive practically formed framework for providing focused time limited pastoral care and counsel To keep this framework tangible this book offers a kairos diagram that illustrates the model for counsel While the kairos diagram is readily found online it has been modified to fit a pastoral counsel context for ease of use Free to Run the Race Gary V. Ventimiglia,2016-09-22

Free to Run the Race describes the living out of our life in Christ Hebrews 12 1 It speaks of running with endurance the race that is set before us This can be done by fixing our eyes on Jesus Undoing the Burden of Parental Disregard speaks to a specific encumbrance that weighs the runner down making it harder to keep focus and finish the race The burden is called parental disregard It is not being allowed to be oneself to pursue one s inner direction or natural proclivity in one s life It is the experience of developmental woundedness that says being oneself in temperament aptitudes natural talents and the expressing of this is prohibited Prov 22 6 says train up a child according to his own way The burden of parental disregard is the emotional pain in living out an identity that is not based on any expression of one s natural way s or bent s This makes the development of trust in a heavenly Father parent difficult The relieving of this burden takes a ruthlessly honest focus on this woundedness and its working out its implications honestly that allows a more truthful understanding of God s love for our lives

Leon Sims,2013-11-14 Reflections of Spirituality in Pastoral Psychotherapy supports the pastoral and counseling practitioner s assurance that spirituality is imbedded within the human experience and may be presumed to be a positive resource for remediation and reconciliation The work is at once autobiographical and theological In many ways the author s approach echoes the pilgrim s path of the faithful disciple A clear distinction is provided by which one may identify the spiritually sensitive counselor Leon Sims sketches a treatment program but emphasizes how one may explore theoretical materials germane to a faith community to reframe approaches to clients problems and personal pain Although the approach is based on Christian principles there will suggestive resources for divergent orientations The model for theoretical reflection is a major strength of the book Moving Beyond

Individualism in Pastoral Care and Counseling Barbara J. McClure,2010-01-01 Despite astute critiques and available resources for alternative modes of thinking and practicing individualism continues to be a dominating and constraining ideology in the field of pastoral psychotherapy and counseling Philip Rieff was one of the first to highlight the negative implications of individualism in psychotherapeutic theories and practices As heirs and often enthusiasts of the Freudian tradition of which Rieff and others are critical pastoral theologians have felt the sting of his charge and yet the empirical research that McClure presents shows that pastoral counseling practitioners resist change Their attempts to overcome an individualistic perspective have been limited and ineffective because individualism is embedded in the field s dominant theological and theoretical resources practices and organizational arrangements Only a radical reappraisal of these will make possible pastoral counseling practices in a post individualistic mode McClure proposes several critical transformations broadening and deepening the operative theologies used to guide the healing practice expanding the role of the pastoral counselor reimagining the operative anthropology reclaiming sin and judgment nuancing the particular against the individual rethinking the ideal outcome of the practices and reimagining the organizational structures that support the practices Only this level of revisioning will enable this ministry of the church to move beyond its individualistic limitations and offer healing in more complex effective and socially adequate ways

Negotiating a Presence-Centred Christian Counselling Simon Shui-Man Kwan, 2016-04-26 How Christian is Christian counselling In what ways should one's counselling practice be conducted in order to fulfil one's role as a Christian counsellor Is there a counselling practice that truly penetrates into the secular approaches while remaining faithful to the Christian traditions of healing What are the theological roots of secular counselling How may secular counselling both reinforce and challenge the Christian faith In answering these questions this book engages readers to navigate between two frames of reference one Eastern secular social scientific and modern the other Western Christian theological and traditional At levels of both theory and practice this book undertakes to integrate synthesize hybridize revise dichotomize and antagonize the two It proposes a revised presence centred counselling approach which may serve as a perspective that helps us to see things in more depth as we shuttle back and forth between the two frames This book thus negotiates a revised presence centred form of counselling that is theologically grounded social scientifically informed and cross culturally sensitive As the author's counselling practice proceeds mainly in societies where Chinese is the majority the cross cultural examinations and proposals offered in this book have been bred in a space where Chinese culture meets the Christian Protestantism in particular West This book is an outgrowth of the author's experience teaching Christian counselling courses for 17 years and his 30 year clinical practice experience in places where East meets West namely Hong Kong and South China Guangdong Province Religious and Theological Abstracts, 2002 Imago Dei: Man/Woman Created in the Image of God George Hobson, 2019-09-30 The question What is human nature is in vogue today Like everything else this concept is being deconstructed in the context of the reigning ideology of individualistic materialism Is there a fixed human nature or is this simply a manipulatable social construct with no objective reference This book says Yes there is the imago Dei man woman created in the image of God Hobson argues that this text from Genesis 1:26-28 is a God given anthropological revelation that establishes the relational bond of human beings with their Creator and also with his creation for which the imago equips us to be responsible stewards Many of Hobson's essays were delivered as talks in parishes They explore from multiple angles the import of the imago Dei for theological and sacramental reflection apologetics aesthetics art and at a hands on practical level for pastoral counseling and inner healing His texts one of which opens with a discussion of genocide contain incisive critiques of the dark side of modernity alongside wide ranging demonstrations of the pertinence of the imago Dei to the current debates about human dignity and rights His book is a ringing call to the church to take the measure of the value of this anthropological revelation for its proclamation of the gospel Psychology, Religion, and Spirituality James M. Nelson, 2009-02-17 Over a century ago psychologists who were fascinated with religion began to study and write about it. Theologians and religious practitioners have responded to this literature producing a fascinating dialogue that deals with our fundamental understandings about the human person and our place in the world. This book provides an introduction to the important conversations that have developed out of these interchanges. The dialogue between psychology and religion is difficult to study for a number of reasons. First it requires knowledge of both psychology and religion. People with a background in psychology often lack a solid understanding of the religious traditions they wish to study and theologians may not be up to date on the latest developments in psychology. Second it requires conceptual tools to organize the material and understand the basic problems involved in any attempt to connect the science of psychology with religion. These concepts can be found in many places for instance in the writings of philosophers of science but they are complex and often hard to follow for those without a proper theological and philosophical background. Finally authors who write on the topic come to the study of psychology and religion from a variety of academic and personal backgrounds. This makes for wonderful diversity in conversations but it makes understanding and mastery of the material quite difficult. In Whom We Live and Move and Have Our Being Philip Clayton, Arthur Robert Peacocke, 2004 A series of essays examining panentheism a philosophy that considers God to be inter related with the world and the world to be inter related with God.

Prophecy and Politics in South African Pentecostalism Mookgo Solomon Kgatle, 2023-12-28 This book is an interdisciplinary study of the relationship between prophecy and politics in South African Pentecostalism. The role and the power of prophecy in enhancing the presence of politicians in the church square are unpacked through historical examples as well as case studies of contemporary prophets. Solomon Kgatle argues that the influence of prophecy in politics has the potential to weaken the prophetic voice of the church in general and the Pentecostal movement in particular. He proposes a Pentecostal political theology of prophecy. This theology is developed by taking into cognizance the theoretical and theological frameworks of prophetic imagination and pneumatological imagination. In addition this theology seeks a balance between prophecy and power and prophecy and sovereignty.
