United Republic Of Tanzania United Republic Of Tanzania:

The Industrial Experience of Tanzania A. Szirmai,P. Lapperre,2001-08-14 The central aim of The Industrial Experience of Tanzania is to explain why the Tanzanian manufacturing sector experienced a long period of stagnation after an initial phase of rapid industrial growth Tanzania has been an extreme case with a high level of state intervention but the contributors show that there are lessons to be learnt here for African economies in general The analysis includes previously unpublished data and presents important conceptual and methodological advances

Human Rights and Ethics: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications Management Association, Information Resources,2014-09-30 In today's increasingly interconnected and global society the protection of basic liberties is an important consideration in public policy and international relations Profitable social interactions can begin only when a foundation of trust has been laid between two parties Human Rights and Ethics Concepts Methodologies Tools and Applications considers some of the most important issues in the ethics of human interaction whether in business politics or science and technology Covering issues such as cybercrime bioethics medical care and corporate leadership this four volume reference work will serve as a crucial resource for leaders innovators educators and other personnel living and working in the modern world

Enabling legal frameworks for sustainable land-use investments in Tanzania: Legal assessment report Robert Kibugi,D. Andrew Wardell,Marie-Claire Cordonier Segger,Caroline Haywood,Renée Gift,2015-10-08 The International Development Law Organization IDLO and the Center for International Forestry Research CIFOR assessed the legal frameworks that govern land use activities and investments in Tanzania The policy institutional and legal frameworks are well developed although implementation and enforcement remains weak due to ambiguities in the law and a general lack of supportive incentives This Legal Assessment report for Tanzania examines four key challenges to the attainment of sustainable land use investments These comprise Enforcement of environmental and social safeguards Tanzania has made progress in implementing the Environmental Management Act by ensuring greater compliance with the Environmental Impact Assessment regulations although exceptions exist in the construction sector and mining legislation that often enables the government to circumvent important land tenure safeguards Incentives for sustainable investments in the legal framework A lack of incentives exists despite the creation of the Tanzania Investment Centre the adoption of an Investment Guide in 2013 and the incorporation of sustainability considerations into laws and policies governing investments in the agriculture energy and forestry and mining sectors Land tenure security Tanzania's land law framework now includes formal recognition of customary title and the reservation of land under the category of village land exclusively for Tanzanians although improvements are still needed in terms of processes of consultation and compensation Public awareness and lack of access to information Awareness of natural resources and investment policies legislation and regulations is generally low amongst rural communities as well as Ward executive officers village leaders and village land committee members Rural radio represents their most important source of information Digital Access and E-Government: Perspectives from Developing and Emerging Countries

Mothataesi Sebina, Peter Mazebe II, Moahi, Kgomotso Hildegard, Bwalya, Kelvin Joseph, 2014-03-31 Access to government information faces many roadblocks in developing and emerging economies due to lack of appropriate legal frameworks and other requisite information laws. However, there is hope that many countries are now recognizing the importance of providing access to public information resources. Digital Access and E-Government: Perspectives from Developing and Emerging Countries explores the relationships that exist between access to information laws and e-government. It shares the strategies used in encouraging access to information in a variety of jurisdictions and environments to be of use to e-government designers and practitioners, policymakers and university professors. Tanzania Today, 1968 United Republic of Tanzania International Monetary Fund. African Dept., 2014-05-15 This Selected Issues paper discusses the potential fiscal impact of a large scale gas project and explores aspects of macro fiscal management of the associated revenue flow. The chapter also provides background and context focusing on recent offshore natural gas discoveries. The paper also describes features of the current petroleum fiscal regime in Tanzania and will present tentative simulations of the fiscal impact of a potential gas project. A string of natural gas discoveries in Tanzania's deep offshore waters have generated considerable expectations. The outlook for natural gas in Tanzania is positive albeit still highly uncertain. If major revenues are obtained and put to fruitful use, they could have a transformational impact on the economy. At the same time, expectations need to be tempered by the remaining uncertainty about the eventual size of the gas resources; no company has yet made a final investment decision involving the deep offshore gas reserves. This uncertainty will hopefully diminish in the next few years.

Intellectual Property Law in Tanzania Jacob Jaconiah, 2022-09-20 Derived from the renowned multi-volume International Encyclopaedia of Laws, this monograph provides a survey and analysis of the rules concerning intellectual property rights in Tanzania. It covers every type of intellectual property right in depth: copyright and neighbouring rights, patents, utility models, trademarks, trade names, industrial designs, plant variety protection, chip protection, trade secrets and confidential information. Particular attention is paid throughout to recent developments and trends. The analysis approaches each right in terms of its sources in law and in legislation and proceeds to such legal issues as subject matter of protection, conditions of protection, ownership, transfer of rights, licences, scope of exclusive rights, limitations, exemptions, duration of protection, infringement, available remedies and overlapping with other intellectual property rights. The book provides a clear overview of intellectual property legislation and policy and at the same time offers practical guidance on which sound preliminary decisions may be based. Lawyers representing parties with interests in Tanzania will welcome this very useful guide and academics and researchers will appreciate its value in the study of comparative intellectual property law.
