Theories of Local Economic Development James E. Rowe, 2016-12-05 In economic development theory and practice exist as two seemingly separate realities Academics strive to develop or refine theory by drawing on abstract concepts about the way people behave and institutions work while practitioners draw from a stock of experiences By bringing together leading theorists and practitioners such as Blakely Blair McCann Luger Gunder Stough and Stimson this book provides the first comprehensive overview of local economic development theories for over fifteen years It explores the theory behind the key concepts that every economic practitioner must understand and in doing so ties together the various theories from across the disciplines to practice The Institutional Foundations of the Digital Economy in the 21st Century Elena G. Popkova,Artem Krivtsov,Aleksei V.

Bogoviz,2021-02-08 The development of the Digital Economy has been a landmark breakthrough for economic systems in the 21st century as it opens up opportunities for the full scale implementation of new digital technologies and the optimization of economic activities While the conceptual essence and specific features of the digital economy are described in detail in the existing literature the practical foundations of its formation are poorly studied In this book the digital economy is studied from the perspective of neo institutional economic theory This allows for the tracking of the process of formation institutionalization of the digital economy determining the basic institutions that are necessary for its formation and that exist in modern economic practice and analyzing scenarios for the future development of the digital economy in the 21st century Regional Economic Development Robert J. economic development has attracted the interest of economists geographers planners and regional scientists for a long time And of course it is a field that has developed a large practitioner cohort in government and business agencies from the national down to the state and local levels In planning for cities and regions both large and small economic development issues now tend to be integrated into strategic planning processes For at least the last 50 years scholars from various disciplines have theorised about the nature of regional economic development developing a range of models seeking to explain the process of regional economic development and why it is that regions vary so much in their economic structure and performance and how these aspects of a region can change dramatically over time Regional scientists in particular have developed a comprehensive tool kit of methodologies to measure and monitor regional economic characteristics such as industry sectors employment income value of production investment and the like using both quantitative and qualitative methods of analysis and focusing on both static and dynamic analysis The father of regional science Walter Isard was the first to put together a comprehensive volume on techniques of regional analysis Isard 1960 and since then a huge literature has emerged including the many titles in the series published by Springer in which this book is published Entrepreneurship

Decentralized Development in Latin America Paul Lindert,Otto Verkoren,2010-03-02 Much of the scholarly and professional literature on development focuses either on the macro level of national policies and politics or on the micro level of devel ment projects and household or community socio economic dynamics By contrast this collection pitches itself at the meso level with a comparative exploration of the ways in which local institutions municipalities local governments city authorities civil society networks and others have demanded and taken on a greater role in planning and managing development in the Latin American region The book s rich empirical studies reveal that local institutions have engaged upwards with central authorities to shape their policy and resource environments and in turn been pressured from below by local actors contesting the ways in which the structures and processes of local governance are framed The examples covered in this volume range from global cities such as Mexico and Santiago to remote rural areas of theBolivian and Brazilian Amazon As a result the book provides a deep understanding of the diversity and complexity of local governance and local development in Latin America while avoiding the stereotyped claims about the impact of globalisation or the potential benefits of decentralisation as frequently stated in less empirically grounded analysis even generations of feeling immune to economic disaster Boeing and Kodak the steel industry in Pittsburg and the automotive industry in Detroit all expected to make it golden in Urban Affairs Caroline Andrew, Katherine A. Graham, Susan D. Phillips, 2002 Issues of urban policy are increasingly complex and important Whether considered from a social demographic or economic perspective Canada is overwhelmingly an urban nation and healthy prosperous cities are the key to its well being What then is our national policy toward urban affairs In Urban Affairs leading experts in a variety of disciplines explore this question Canada's last experience with national urban policy making was in the 1970s The authors focus on what has happened since exploring how both city regions and ideas about the urban policy making process have changed The authors also examine both the past and present roles of the federal government and what it can and should do in the future Contributors include Caroline Andrew Paul Born Tamarack Institute for Community Engagement Cambridge Kenneth Cameron FCIP Policy and Planning Greater Vancouver Regional District W Michael Fenn Ontario Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs and Housing Pierre Filion University of Waterloo Katherine Graham Pierre Hamel Universit de Montr al Christopher Leo University of Winnipeg Barbara Levine World University Service of Canada Sherilyn MacGregor PhD Environmental Studies York University Warren Magnusson University of Victoria Beth Moore Milroy Ryerson University Merle Nicholds former Mayor of Kanata Evelyn Peters University of Saskatchewan Susan Phillips Valerie Preston York University Andrew Sancton University of Western Ontario Lisa Shaw Canadian Centre for Policy Alternatives Enid Slack Enid Slack Consulting Inc Sherri Torjman Caledon Institute of Social Policy Carolyn Whitzman doctoral candidate School of Geography and Geology McMaster University David Wolfe University of Toronto and Madeleine Wong University of Wisconsin Economic Ethics & the Black Church Wylin D. Wilson, 2017-09-07 This book examines the relationship between race religion and economics within the black church The book features unheard voices of individuals experiencing economic deprivation and the faith communities who serve as their refuge Thus this project examines the economic ethics of black churches in the rural South whose congregants and broader communities have long struggled amidst persistent poverty Through a case study of communities in Alabama's Black Belt this book argues that if the economic ethic of the Black Church remains accommodationist it will continue to become increasingly irrelevant to communities that experience persistent poverty Despite its historic role in combatting racial oppression and social injustice the Church has also perpetuated ideologies that uncritically justify unjust social structures Wilson shows how the Church can shift the conversation and reality of poverty by moving from a legacy of accommodationism and toward a legacy of empowering liberating economic ethics Quality Tourism Experiences Gayle Jennings, Norma Polovitz Nickerson, 2006 The book draws together writers from different backgrounds and interdisciplinary interests and research methodologies as a consequence the book provides a model of the way researchers can work together to illuminate an area and to provide multiple representations and interpretations of that area Moreover the book demonstrates interdisciplinary transdisciplinary and intradisciplinary
