Treating The New Anxiety A Cognitive Theological Approach:

Treating the New Anxiety Kirk A. Bingaman, 2007 A new form of anxiety has emerged stemming in part from our post 9 11 reality but even more stemming from the influence of supermodernity Whereas postmodernism theorizes an anxiety that results from the collapse or loss of meaning through the lens of supermodernity it appears that the new anxiety is evoked more by an excess of meaning generated by the rapid acceleration of human life and the media s daily bombardment with serious global national and local concerns This book explores the nature of the anxiety our supermodern condition provokes and proposes that with the void left by the diminishment of religious involvement and practice the therapy session becomes the definitive place for meaning making Building on a cognitive therapy approach that emphasizes the client s belief system Bingaman demonstrates that to treat this new anxiety most effectively practitioners must help clients identify and explore their core theological beliefs and spiritual values

Ponticus and Cognitive Science George Tsakiridis, 2010-01-15 This study puts the thought of Evagrius Ponticus a fourth century theologian into dialogue with modern cognitive science in regard to the topic of evil specifically moral evil Evagrius in his writings about prayer and the ascetic life addressed the struggle with personal moral evil in terms of the eight thoughts or demons These thoughts were transmitted by John Cassian to the Western church and later recast by Gregory the Great as the Seven Deadly Sins Though present understandings of evil appear to differ greatly from those of Evagrius his wisdom concerning the battle against evil may prove to be of great help even today Using the work of Pierre Hadot to recover Evagrius context and the work of Paul Ricoeur to discuss how we construct descriptions and myths of evil Evagrius is brought into dialogue with the cognitive sciences Using current research especially the work of Eugene d'Aquili and Andrew Newberg this study reveals the contemporary relevance of Evagrius approach to combating evil In addition the interdisciplinary study of patristics and cognitive science opens the pathway to a better understanding between Christian tradition and the modern sciences Recent years have seen a resurgence in studies of Evagrius of Pontus bringing his work into a new relevance to today's world This book by Dr Tsakiridis examines the work of Evagrius and focuses on a perspective not well covered in the literature Evagrius importance to science especially the cognitive sciences The book is insightful and represents an important new contribution to studies of Evagrius work and to the science and religion discussion as a whole Gayle E Woloschak The Feinberg School Northwestern University Few writers in the field of religion and science have the competence to interpret so many and varied texts in patristic mystical and moral theology contemporary neuro science and the turn to spirituality in contemporary theology He shows how both cognitive science and mystical theology can mutually enrich and inform each other in ways unimagined by today's popular neo atheists and agnostics Robert A Cathey McCormick Theological Seminary In a thoroughly limpid style George Tsakiridis sets before us an exceptionally interesting project 1 he centers on sin evil and prayer in a way that is central to the religious life 2 he engages the cutting edge domain of cognitive sciences and 3 he invites us to take seriously both a much neglected fourth century religious thinker and the most contemporary work of scientists who focus on the mind and its activities Philip Hefner Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago Emeritus George Tsakiridis artfully compares and clarifies the concepts used by ancient and modern thinkers to
