Understanding Economic Behaviour Theory And Decision Library A:

Revolutionary Changes in Understanding Man and Society Johann Götschl, 2012-12-06 JOHANN GOTSCHL Over the last decades social philosophers economists sociologists utility and game theorists biologists mathematicians moral philosophers and philosophers have created totally new concepts and methods of understanding the function and role of humans in their modern societies The years between 1953 and 1990 brought drastic changes in the scientific foundations and dynamic of today's society A burst of entirely new revolutionary ideas similar to those which heralded the beginning of the twentieth century in physics dominates the picture This book also discusses the ongoing refutation of old concepts in the social sciences Some of them are the traditional concepts of rationality for example based on maximization of interests the linearity of axiomatic methods methodological individualism and the concept of a static society Today the revolutionary change from a static view of our society to an evolutionary one reverberates through all social sciences and will dominate the twenty first century In an uncertain and risky world where cooperation and teamwork is getting more and more important one cannot any longer call the maximization of one's own expectations of utility or interests rational

Understanding Economic Behaviour Klaus Günter Grunert, Folke Ölander, 2012-12-06 may be related to another basic assumption in economic psychology that the human capacity to process information from the environment is limited and that the kind of optimal use of that information postulated in many economic theories is therefore not possible The research methods used are mainly geared towards empirical research and there mostly towards survey research and experimentation Experimentation involves most often simulated behaviour in a laboratory which allows the experimental manipulation of possible causes of behaviour which would not be possible in real life Survey research is the most widely used instrument for investigating real world behaviour with all its caveats about establishing causal explanations Several introductory books e.g. Fumham Lea Tarpy van Raaij van Veldhoven Wiswede 1988 have appeared recently which try to give an overview of the field of economic psychology and which in varying degrees demonstrate the three foundations of economic psychology just mentioned Others have concentrated on certain subtopics such as the psychology of the labour market e.g. Baxter 1988 Pelzmann 1986

Zeitschrift für Wissenschaftsforschung, 1994 Generating Images of Stratification Thomas J. Fararo, Kenji Kosaka, 2013-03-09 Generating Images of Stratification is a self contained presentation of a theoretical research program that deals with a significant explanatory problem relating to social inequality and that constructs generative theoretical models in doing so In more detail Self contained presentation In respect to the background sociological facts and theoretical ideas and also the formal methods the book provides clear and simple accounts accompanied by examples A theoretical research program The emphasis is on theory development involving a series of theoretical models constructed within a core framework of principles and methods Deals with a significant explanatory problem relating to social inequality We know from research that how people perceive the stratification system of a society depends upon their position in that system So the problem is What process generates this regularity and thereby explains empirical generalizations about the social structuration of images Constructs generative theoretical models The book is an extended presentation of generative theory in sociology a formal method of producing effective theoretical explanations Generating Images of Stratification is of interest to mathematical sociologists and formal theorists in sociology sociologists interested in social stratification methodologists both in sociology and in other fields philosophers of social science and theoretical scientists and mathematicians who are interested in applying their analytical tools to social science topics

Intentional Acts and Institutional Facts Savas L.

Tsohatzidis,2007-06-17 Savas L Tsohatzidis John Searle is famous for his contributions to two fields with long and distinguished traditions within analytic philosophy the philosophy of language and the philosophy of mind but his interests and achievements extend beyond these fields From the early 1990s he has added to his research agenda a theme that was not only largely new to his philosophical preoccupations but also largely absent from the concerns of analytic philosophy as a whole the systematic examination of the mode of being of a particular kind of facts institutional facts that appear to be no less objectively knowable than ordinary physical facts yet seem to be essentially dependent for their existence on the subjectivity of human minds to recall one of his favourite examples one can know that something is a piece of paper as objectively as one can know that it is a twenty dollar bill but something's being a piece of paper does not depend on anyone's taking it to be a piece of paper whereas its being a twenty dollar bill crucially depends on a lot of people taking it to be a twenty dollar bill Searle's attempt to give a systematic account of the combination of epistemic objectivity and ontological subjectivity that in his view characterizes institutional facts has led to a full blown theory that he presented in his 1995 book The Construction of Social Reality and further developed in his 2001 book Rationality in Action

Alternative Action Theory Ota

Weinberger,2012-12-06 Action is conceived of as an intentional behavior of an individual or of an institutional subject it is determined by information processing namely by a process in which pieces of descriptive and practical information are involved Action is explained by a formal and finalistic theory which is connected with a specific theory of institutions The philosophical basis of the logic of norm sentences and of other systems of practical thinking formal teleology axiology logic of preferences is discussed The author criticizes traditional deontic logic and argues in favor of a genuine logic of norms The book gives a structure analysis of the so called practical inference and of nomic causal propositions Besides a critical account of von Wright's practical philosophy the author offers critical analyses of discourse rationality Habermas Apel Alexy and of Wittgenstein's views on philosophizing The book addresses readers interested in philosophical logic practical philosophy sociology of institutions legal philosophy and theory democracy

Cooperative Agents N.J. Saam,B. Schmidt,2013-06-29

Agent based modelling on a computer appears to have a special role to play in the development of social science It offers a means of discovering general and applicable social theory and grounding it in precise assumptions and derivations whilst addressing those elements of individual cognition that are central to human society However there are important questions to be asked and difficulties to overcome in achieving this potential What differentiates agent based modelling from traditional computer modelling Which model types should be used under which circumstances If it is appropriate to use a complex model how can it be validated Is social simulation research to adopt a realist epistemology or can it operate within a social constructionist framework What are the sociological concepts of norms and norm processing that could either be used for planned implementation or for identifying equivalents of social norms among co operative agents Can sustainability be achieved more easily in a hierarchical agent society than in a society of isolated agents What examples are there of hybrid forms of interaction between humans and artificial agents These are some of the sociological questions that are addressed
