Understanding Global News Jaap van Ginneken, 1997-12-08 A lively and critical introduction to the news media this book has been written specifically for media students and trainee journalists Understanding Global News invites the reader to explore contemporary journalistic practice and questions the assumption that the media provide a mere window on the world Challenging the often unquestioned notions of media objectivity the author turns the classic questions Who What When and Why onto the news media By employing a range of theoretical perspectives and a large variety of examples the author demonstrates the way in which our perceptions of the world are constructed by the news media Understanding Global News Jaap van Ginneken, 1998-01-23 A lively and critical introduction to the news media this book has been written specifically for media students and trainee journalists Understanding Global News invites the reader to explore contemporary journalistic practice and questions the assumption that the media provide a mere window on the world Challenging the often unquestioned notions of media objectivity the author turns the classic questions Who What When and Why onto the news media By employing a range of theoretical perspectives and a large variety of examples the author demonstrates the way in which our perceptions of the world are constructed by the news media International News in the 21st Century Chris Paterson, Annabelle Sreberny, 2004 In the aftermath of September 11 the nature of international news has resumed a central place in media debates and political analysis In the first collection of its kind influential journalists and scholars probe the future of international news Topics include the conglomerates ethnocentric imbalances in news reporting the rise of non Anglo news channels approaches for reconstructing the international news agenda the impacts of new technologies of production and diffusion international news rhetoric and audiences imagination of the global and their perceptions of international news coverage In a dialogue that is both descriptive and prescriptive this book begins an encounter between media practitioners activists and academics constituencies that have tended to talk past each other but are now beginning to find some shared concerns Television Courtroom Broadcasting Effects Paul Lambert, 2013-07-05 Court and policy makers have increasingly had to deal with and sometimes even embrace technology from podcasts to the Internet Televised courtroom broadcasting especially remains an issue The debate surrounding the US Supreme Court and federal courts as well as the great disparity between different forms of television courtroom broadcasting rages on What are the effects of television courtroom broadcasting Does research support the arguments for or against Despite three Supreme Court cases on television courtroom broadcasting the common thread between the cases has not been highlighted The Supreme Court in these cases maintains a common theme there is not a sufficient body of research on the effects of televising courtroom proceedings to resolve the debate in a confident manner Blaming the Victim Jairo Lugo-Ocando, 2014-12-20 Poverty it seems is a constant in today's news usually the result of famine exclusion or conflict In Blaming the Victim Jairo Lugo-Ocando sets out to deconstruct and reconsider the variety of ways in which the global news media misrepresent and decontextualise

the causes and consequences of poverty worldwide The result is that the fundamental determinant of poverty inequality is removed from their accounts The book asks many biting questions When and how does poverty become newsworthy How does ideology come into play when determining the ways in which poverty is constructed in newsrooms and how do the resulting narratives frame the issue And why do so many journalists and news editors tend to obscure the structural causes of poverty In analysing the processes of news production and presentation around the world Lugo Ocando reveals that the news makers agendas are often as problematic as the geopolitics they seek to represent This groundbreaking study reframes the ways in which we can think and write about the enduring global injustice of poverty Your Country, Our War

Sources Paul Manning, 2000-12-22 News and News Sources offers a fresh introduction to the sociology of news It is often suggested that the powerful dominate news agendas Increasingly however less powerful groups are employing sophisticated media strategies and new communication technologies to get their message across The implications of this development are unclear Do these developments herald a democratisation of news arenas or will they enable the powerful further strengthen their control over the flow of information to the public domain News and News Sources reviews new research in the rapidly expanding field of political communication drawing upon material from Britain Europe and the USA provides a clear introduction to the processes of news production and the implications of the rise in global electronic news communication and assesses the various theoretical frameworks available for analysing these developments including functionalism pluralism Marxism political economy hegemony theory discourse theory and postmodernism Rethinking Africa's 'globalization'

Paul Tiyambe Zeleza, 2003 Offering a powerful and probing critique of the myths meanings promises and perils of globalisation post colonialism and other currently popular discourses this book challenges misrepresentations and misappropriations of Africa in academic texts and in the media and reaffirms the importance of progressive nationalism Pan Africanism and internationalism for Africa's reconstruction Representing Culture Claudia Alvares, 2008 The essays collected in this volume are interdisciplinary in nature defying the traditional boundaries that compartmentalise and contain knowledge within particular camps Heir to the undisciplining TM legacy of cultural studies they attempt to transcend the restrictive frameworks of pre established discourse engaging in new and fruitful combinations of theories and methodologies The general aim of the book is to indicate new perspectives for the exercise of cultural criticism on the basis of the major issues that confront us today rather than articulate any canonical viewpoint on traditional cultural studies These essays thus share a common denominator in that they seek to explore the field of current experience TM through the exercise of critique The recontextualisation of cultural studies that this book attempts occurs along the vectors of identity politics visual culture and technology The collection draws attention to the fact that these vectors do not consist in delimited camps TM but rather in axes that intersect with each other at each instance
