Postmodern Reading of Contemporary East African Fiction Andrew Nyongesa, 2024-02-29 This book likens writers incessant focus on racism negative ethnicity patriarchy and social stratification in societies to a naive physician who prescribes analgesics to treat symptoms while the underlying cause of the disease seethes in the blood In the same way persons who consistently blame their reckless conduct and shabbiness miss the point if they do not transform the actual cause of the problem the mind While most literary scholars problematise gender disparities racial and political othering oppression environment degradation education matters poor parenting and governance they tend to disregard the root cause modernism This book finds a gap in this grey area to address the authentic cause of the symptoms that most literary writers and scholars treat Pertinent modernist tenets such as bureaucracy the nation state systematisation and rationality and dualism are at the heart of racism corruption and other aforementioned symptoms It is the contention of this study that postmodernism offers a comprehensive understanding of modernism to mitigate its effects on society

Music as Cultural Heritage and Novelty Oana Andreica, 2022-09-13 This book provides a multifaceted view on the relation between the old and the new in music between tradition and innovation This is a much debated issue generating various ideas and theories which rarely come to unanimous conclusions Therefore the book offers diverse perspectives on topics such as national identities narrative strategies the question of musical performance and musical meaning Alongside themes of general interest such as classical repertoire the music of well established composers and musical topics the chapters of the book also touch on specific but equally interesting subjects like Brazilian traditions Serbian and Romanian composers and the lullaby While the book is mostly addressed to researchers it can also be recommended to students in musicology ethnomusicology musical performance and musical semiotics

The Lord of the Rings and the Western Narrative Tradition Martin Simonson, 2008 When The Lord of the Rings was published in the 1950 s it did not sit comfortably among any preconceived notions of literary genre The critical responses reflected the confusion for some it was an unwelcome reappearance of narrative standards that modernism was supposed to have done away with or just a bad novel Others considered it a refreshing work in the epic and romance traditions Ironically much of the critical prejudice regarding the question of genre in The Lord of the Rings has been motivated by the same kind of blindness that Tolkien denounced in his famous 1936 lecture Beowulf the monsters and the critics Like Beowulf Tolkien s work has also failed to be properly appreciated and assessed due to a general refusal to accept the centrality of monsters because despite its monstrous originality and fantastic setting it is very clearly and not only chronologically at the centre of twentieth century literature The Lord of the Rings and the Western Narrative Tradition is an attempt to account for the particular genre interaction that governs Tolkien s tale and put it in a meaningful relationship with the contemporary literary context At the same time it is a quest to track down one of the most famous and elusive literary monsters of the past century by filling out a long neglected white space on the map of comparative literature and genre criticism
